FOREWORD

*"Ye who love a nation's legends,
Love the ballads of a people,
That like voices from afar off
Call to us to pause and listen,
Speak in tones so plain and child-like,
Scarcely can the ear distinguish
Whether they are sung or spoken;—
Listen to this Indian Legend,
To this Song of Hiawatha!"*

LONGFELLOW

Hiawatha, the legendary Indian of yore, somehow has caught our fancy. His fine, bronzed physique and wild, untamed life, associated with the Indian, ceased to exist with the civilization of the white man. In this yearbook, the 1936 Annual "W", we, the staff, have endeavored to paint the activities within W.T.H.S. in characteristic Indian lore. We have portrayed the story of the redman throughout the book in our writeups and art work. This theme, suggested by two young braves on our staff, Robert Olson and Charles Filstead, fascinated us and we believe that it will strike a romantic note in every true American heart. With its atmosphere of the hazy past and its Indian quaintness, we hope this yearbook will intrigue you.

Of the ancient arrow-maker."

DEDICATION

To the classes that will follow
In our footsteps up the school trail,
Dedicate we this, our yearbook;
And bequeath, entrust forever,
All that we hold dear and cherish
Of Waukegan high school's folklore;
Even as the sage, Nokomis
Taught the tribal tales and legends
To Hiawatha, youthful chieftain,
That traditions might not perish,
But endure and live forever.

THE PURPLE AND THE GOLD

Hail Waukegan High,
Hail Waukegan High,
How grandly rings your name
With fervor, joy, and loyalty
As it wings its way to fame.
In our school we climb the ladder
Four years of constant stress,
Every task that we can conquer
A step upward to success.

Chorus:

Hooray, hoo-rah, rah rah, rah rah
Waukegan.
Hooray, hoo-rah, rah rah, rah rah
Waukegan! - whistle, boom -

Hail Waukegan High,
Hail Waukegan High,
We will ever praise our honored
school,
Her worth can ne'er be told,
Hail Waukegan High,
Hail Waukegan High,
From your mantled walls of ivy clad
'Neath the Purple and the Gold.

*Words By Jessie Strang '26
Music by Otto E. Graham*

OUR FACULTY

Here's to our teachers, whose hair we turn gray;
To whom we give nightmares, all night and all day.
They're mighty fine folks, if you just stop and chat;
If you learn to respect them, they give it right back.

CLASSES

*"Thus the four winds were divided;
Thus the sons of Mudjekeewis
Had their stations in the heavens,"*

SENIORS

SENIOR A CLASS

In January, 1932, a bewildered group of papooses entered the tribal circle of W. T. H. S. Indians. For an entire year, under the leadership of Charles Wilson, Patty Morrow, and Milton Smith, these children traversed a maze of halls and a wilderness of strange rooms in constant danger of being knocked over by a careless senior.

When they had learned that there were no elevators in the junior building and that football games were not held in the cafeteria, these papooses became youths and maidens with the exalted rank of sophomores. They chose as their officers for this year the same students as before and soon another year rolled by. Now, these youngsters had the honor of moving into the mysterious realms of the senior building, and there they enjoyed the privilege of piling all their books in half a locker and plunking a pair of dripping galoshes on top. However, they bore these small trials bravely for already there was promise of much talent from some members of the tribe.

Rachel Sands and Kirsti Idstrom had shown their dramatic ability in several plays. Rachel was the pianist for the senior orchestra and chairman of the Junior Prom. Although the braves of this tribe had lost their skill with the bow and arrow, many proved their excellent marksmanship with a rifle. The Cadet Lieutenant Colonel of the R. O. T. C. unit and a number of other boys were expert members of the rifle team. In football, Bob Pillifant, Vincent Shea and Walter Riley all deserve praise. Vincent Shea and Herbert Tompkins excelled in basketball. The senior play, "Growing Pains," boasted of such actors as: Mary Jane Nellans, Howard Seeber, Kirsti Idstrom, and Joe Oberman. Elizabeth Ferry, Howard Seeber, Dora Canfield, Norma Saloma, Blanche Johansen and Elmer Luke held prominent places in the vocal department. Marion Nickerson, Helen Sutton and Elbe Tasker played in the senior orchestra. Kirsti Idstrom and Howard Seeber were president and vice-president of the class respectively during the last two years of this class' stay in high school. Helen Sutton and Dorothy Larsen each held the office of secretary-treasurer for one year.

Class nite, held in January, was extremely interesting to both audience and actors. The theme was music in every form from "Round and Round" to arias from the various operas. Dora Canfield was the valedictorian of the class and Helen Sutton was the salutatorian. At the graduating exercises the class presented a radio to the school and gifts to their wise advisers, Miss Darrow and Mr. Sandven. Each valorous brave and fair maiden received his eagle feather, some call it a diploma, with joy not unmingled with regret at leaving high school. Each lad and lass, after graduation, confidently set out to fight his way to the fore with his individual bow and arrow.

SENIOR A's

The past four years have been great fun;
For some, a drudgery;
And now that all the work is done,
You're happy that you're free.

But still you haven't won the fight,
As for a job you look,
You'll wish you'd stayed at home at night
And read your grammar book.

And when at last a job you find,
You start to climb the stairs—
You'll wish you hadn't fallen behind
In knowledge of world affairs.

M. E. H.

SENIOR B CLASS

In the fall of 1932 a band of youths and maidens, some in knickers others in ankle socks, entered the mysterious realms of the Waukegan township high school with many awed glances and curious questions. These papooses were indeed very different from the poised and accomplished braves and maidens who in June, 1936 left the same tribal halls. But if we were to look long and carefully at the fads of these children, we might distinguish the features of many celebrities-to-be. Over there is Mark Gantor, destined to be the Lieutenant Colonel of the R.O.T.C. unit, and LeRoy Lindgren and Vincent Guerin, majors. Betty Pearsall, Mary Louise Van Sickle, Helen Sengenberger, Muriel Zahn, Dorothy Nichols, and Ruth Poff even as freshman showed promise of dramatic careers. Some of those shy lads were soon to display great Thespian ability. Among those who attained athletic prowess are: Frank Merlo, Justin Bowers, Jimmy Neary, Bill Scheske, Varam Sahagian, Barney Walczak and Mickey McGuire.

There are vocalists and instrumentalists galore. Marguerite Courson, Ruth Farrar, Vivian Fons, Gertrude Johnson, Mayme Kirn, Rhoda Puhl, and Norman Twentyman, all sang in operettas and in the Glee Club and A Cappella choir. In the Senior Orchestra and in the Senior Band of two years hence we would find Jimmy Van Slyke, Edward Malela, Walter Stenborg, Eugene Graham, Ralph Harju, Harry Hoigaard, Robert Prichard, Sterling Ross, Harvey Shea, Bill Gensch, Lillian Berglund, Alice Schott, Ruth Gurskis, and Ella Rodman.

The officers of this clan were: Barney Walczak, president; Jimmy Neary, vice-president; Katherine Hall, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Frey and Miss Talcott served as class sponsors.

Ethel Naudts served as editor of the Student "W" World during the second semester. Ruth Poff and Alvar Romppainen were associate editors. Others who were prominent in publications work included: Robert Townsend, Ethel Scheve, Georgia Sandstrom, Margaret Laser, Irene Anderson, and Mary Mirretti. On the Annual staff we find Alice Schott, editor, and also valedictorian of her class; Marion Helmkamp, Loretta Marks, Virginia Pinniger, and Pauline Peterson.

SENIORS

They all say that your last year's best;
But, somehow, you don't know.
Teachers just won't give you a rest
Until your work's just so.
They work you so, 'til you don't know
Just how long you can last.
Of course, by this time you should show,
Your training of the past.
But all-in-all, your last year's swell;
For if you just think how
The Freshmen to each other tell,
"There goes a Senior now."

M. E. H.

SENIOR B's

You'll soon be "the tops" of the school, you know,
And to the rest of the gang you'll hope to show,
The way that a Senior "had ought" to go.
You'll soon go around with your nose in the air
And feel insulted if you have to share,
With an underclassman, your double chair.
You'll soon be wondering how anyone got
The silly idea that a Senior's so "hot,"
For you'll be one, and know they're not.

JUNIORS

JUNIOR A CLASS

"'Twas when the leaves of autumn were by tempest fingers picked."—WILL CARLETON.

On just such a day in the late fall of 1934, a frolicsome troupe of young papooses entered the huge wigwam of Waukegan township high school. Their awesome regard of their new habitat amused the upper classmen. As you may have guessed, these toddlers were the eighth grades, visiting high school for the first time.

Nearly three moons after the first visit the petite young braves and maidens returned to our tribal halls, this time as members of W. T. H. S. community. Their initiation into the fold was not gentle, but they bore their trials bravely. Unflinchingly they withstood the scorn and ridicule of the lofty seniors. Nor did they lose their courage after being most carefully directed to the print shop when all they wanted to know was where to find the band room. Their days of bewilderment and torture, however, were short-lived, for, very quickly these frisky freshies acquired the art of locating their rooms as well as a poise not usually associated with younglings.

When their second year rolled around the wee novices actually assumed an air of sophistication at their being transferred to the realms of the senior building. All to soon they realized their folly in being so joyous, for their troubles had just begun. Rooms in the senior building were not so easily found. One might discover a room in the most obscure or remote nook or corner. What's more, the trails are narrow one-way thoroughfares, and the lockers are dwarfed to one-half the size of those in the other building.

After two years of such trials the braves and maidens emerged full-fledged and worldly-wise Juniors. A few had earned enviable reputations for their accomplishments in various lines of endeavor. Among these were: Barbara Parmalee and Harold Simmonds, both warblers of the highest type, prominent in various vocal ensembles and in the operetta, "Iolanthe"; and Harry Holt, an athletic chap, endeared to the hearts of all sports-loving femmes.

Under the sponsorship of their chiefs, Miss Gayton and Mr. Clymer, the class this year elected as their leaders, Jack Tyrrell, president, and Barbara Jean Parmalee, secretary-treasurer.

JUNIOR A's

You soon will join the Senior ranks,
And learn all their time-worn pranks.
You soon will have a lot of fun,
In listening to teacher's pun.
You soon will know just why they say,
"To work hard all four years will pay."

JUNIOR B CLASS

One of the most active groups of the W.T.H.S. tribe is that known as the Junior B's. Under the leadership of their chiefs, Miss Grady and Mr. Neary, these stalwart braves and young maidens have developed into an invaluable asset to the tribe.

Their chief council consists of their very prominent braves, Leo Stanzack as "Heap big chief," Lyman Starr, his able assistant, and Leo Hartman who delivers messages and takes care of the wampum. At the beginning of the semester a special council fire was held to select the tribal ring. The members assigned to this task were: Shirley Beeman, Vera Collier, Martha Moore, Robert Olson, Betty Hall, Gordon Thomas, Elizabeth Williams, Ruth Kramer, Lyman Starr, Leo Stanzack, and Leo Hartman.

Because each tribe has such a variety of talent, the big tribe, W.T.H.S., summons from all the tribes those braves and maidens who have earned their feathers and wampum, in such activities as dramatics, vocal work, music, and athletics. From each tribe the best are selected and accorded great honor. The braves and maidens who represent the Junior B tribe are: in the vocal department, Donald Anderson, Shirley Beeman, Douglas Morton, Lorraine Gorenson, and Vivian Carlson; in dramatics, Betty Hall, Lyman Starr, Patricia Greene and William Fucik. Those braves who have earned their honor feathers in the band are Lyman Starr, Victor Hoefner, and Merton Douthitt. To the Indians, physical achievement is most vital. Those of the Junior tribe who excelled in this line were: in swimming, Leo Hartman and Douglas Morton who were in the finals of the Suburban League meet; in football they were the braves, Joe Ogrin, Gordon Bilharz, Louis Durkin, who qualified for the first team. So it was indeed a great representation that the Junior B's had at the honor feast.

On May 2, this tribe plans to give the annual tribal dance, the "Junior Prom." This dance is the most famous of the Junior tribe dances. Beautiful maidens don their festive gowns, and the braves get out their extra special dress costumes. All come from near and far to attend. Each year the prom chairman is selected by the tribe. This year a very popular young and handsome brave, Robert Olson, was chosen by popular vote.

"We feel that it will be one of the best proms ever given," say the Junior B tribe, and with such an array of stars—can we doubt it?

JUNIORS

Your Junior year is lots of fun;
Your hard work, though, has just begun.

For German, French, and English, too,
Appear much more than you can do.

Along with these are chemistry
And physics, hard as they can be.

But then, just think of all the fun
You have when once the year's begun.

The Junior Prom, Band Concert, too,
There's more than that for you to do.

The Military Hop near June,
And Band Dance keeps us all in tune.

And so you see, a Junior's life
Is fun as well as work and strife.

On a chill wintry day in February, 1934, a small but frisky band of about one hundred seventy papooses were corralled into the junior assembly. After a careful explanation of what was expected of them by Chief Thalman, they were let loose. The innocent babies scattered right and left in a mad scramble to get to their classes before the fateful bell rang. As the weeks passed by these infants were amazed to discover that algebra wasn't some kind of language, and that a yellow slip always accompanied one when one just couldn't wake up on time (even if the alarm clock didn't ring). Such discoveries quite jarred the youngsters. They were further astonished to find that 95's couldn't be obtained by forgetting one's assignments or even by leaving them in another notebook. To make matters even worse, the poor darlings learned quite pointedly, after cutting corners and upsetting dignified seniors, that these same seniors, were far superior beings and must be revered, treated with respect, and be assisted by freshmen at any time the former deemed it necessary. By this time the toddlers were quite convinced of their inferiority and were satisfied to skulk in the shadows of their superiors.

Their sophomore year wrought a complete change in the former timid down-trodden babies. Now they assumed quite sophisticated airs as the young braves donned their first long trousers and the fair girls were permitted to cut their long curls and to wear ear-rings and high heels. Having attained their present exalted station as sophomores, under the sponsorship of their chiefs, Miss Trevenen and Mr. James, these braves elected as their president a gallant lad, Fred Mudgett. Two charming maidens, Ruth Mortenson and Mary Ellen Sams were selected as his aides.

Already many of the youngsters have proved their talent in various fields. Those who deserve feathers for achievement include the following: Jeanette Miller, Ruth Mortenson, and Mary Ellen Sams, all W. T. H. S. actresses of note; Fred Mudgett, Joe Ello, and Robert Bower, purple and gold athletes; the talented musician, Clyde Murk of the band and Pearl Nilsen and Bernard Sheffield of the vocal department; lastly, there are several illustrious members on the Annual staff.

This Spring the class, in conjunction with the present junior A class, held their Junior Prom for the Sophomore A's. The chairman was Robert Tinsley.

These dashing young Indians, under the sponsorship of Miss Cunningham and Mr. Annis, elected as their tribal chieftains: president, Charles Ramsey; vice-president, Robert Rice; secretary-treasurer, Helen Johnson. It was with much enthusiasm that these youngsters threw off the derogatory title of papooses which was held on November 16. Billy Wilson impersonated Major Bowes to the delight of all the assembled Indians and a thoroughly good time was had by all. Charles Ramsey served as "heap big" general chairman and the following as council chiefs: programs, Donald Hogan; floor manager, George Canfield; refreshments, Helen Johnson; publicity, Ralph Nelson.

No longer did these braves and maidens fear the seniors or stand in awe of their doings. A number of them managed to attain honors in school activities. In dramatics, Willard Bowers, Edson Loftus, Ralph Nelson, and Frank Nolan, all took part in "Out of the Fog." Also, you will remember Ralph as Sam in "Milestones." Link Lindquist played both sophomore football and frosh-soph basketball, which won for him much praise. Johannes Rasmussen rivaled the best in cornet playing, while Helen Ferry and Donald Hogan were accomplished vocalists and carried off honors with minor leads in the operetta.

One of these youngsters, Stephen Dunski, has proved his ability with a rifle instead of the traditional bow and arrow. He is now a member of the rifle team. In the vaudeville, which the dramatics group and the vocal department gave early in April, a surprising array of musical and acting ability was displayed by the Indians. Many sophomores joined the ranks of the History Club and soon became as absorbed in the tribal meetings as any senior. However, these youths and maidens are celebrated in other fields. Ralph Nelson, the perennial gagster, is fond of entertaining faculty and students with his efforts. Donald Hogan, in addition to operatic singing, can be heard crooning quite frequently, and Helen Ferry also excels in "moaning low."

Another powwow held by this very ambitious band was given for the pleasure of the entire W. T. H. S. tribe and not just for themselves as was the sophomore party. This affair was a dance after the basketball game played February 28, 1936. It was indeed a success, for what dance wouldn't be a success after a victorious basketball game? Waukegan defeated Morton on that memorable date. Charles Ramsey was the general chairman of the get-together and he was ably assisted by several members of his band.

Now you are a sophomore bold
No longer in the freshman fold;
You have left these infant ranks.
No longer through the halls you run
You know such things just are not done.
Latin, to you, is no mystery,
And you really enjoy your history.
Of course, geometry's still a trial,
But you'll catch on after awhile.
You no longer seek numbers on doors
You no longer wander on wrong floors.
You now may walk with head held high
And may even utter a little bored sigh.
You now find the courage a-dancing to go
'Mong juniors and seniors you whirl to and fro.
Every game, meet, and play you faithfully attend,
And your pennies for these you ungrudgingly spend.
You've gained a lot of school spirit
A very good sign, so continue to rear it.
Thus far you sophomores have hit hard your stride,
And to W.T.H.S. you'll bring honor and pride.

MIRIAM L. ADELSON

FRESHMAN A CLASS

When the papooses known as freshman A's entered the tribal halls of Waukegan township high school, they were taken in hand by two stalwart chiefs, Miss Hurlbutt and Mr. Jackson. The midyearlings are those privileged braves who moved to the senior building when they became sophomore B's. When they are promoted they find themselves late for so many classes because they can't remember that over here the stairways are one way paths. The seniors are forever directing these small unsuspecting and innocent youths to the print shop instead of to the senior office, and to the dramatics room in place of the study hall. These unfortunate papooses are really green freshmen twice in one year, which doesn't seem very fair.

After this year's band had grasped the ways of their brothers and were as adept at knocking people down as were their enemies, the lofty brave seniors, this small band elected as their leader, Patricia Smyth. The braves in this clan seem to lack ambition, for the leader's assistants are: Mary Alice Allen, vice-president, and Norma Lahti, secretary-treasurer, both lovely maidens.

This class has already displayed great promise among some of its rising young members. Lois French has earned her feathers for her dramatic ability. Everyone will remember her as the stern old mother in "Out of the Fog," and for reading "The Gettysburg Address" at the Lincoln Day program sponsored by the Dramatic department and the History Club. In music, we can't forget that small papoose, Donald Tschabold, who although only a freshman A, has already been promoted to the rank of first class saxophonist in the Senior Band. For athletic prowess Otto Graham, Jr., has won many a feather. He displayed the speed of his fleet feet by making many a basket during the last minute of a thrilling game.

A powwow in the form of a freshman party was held on the afternoon of January 18, 1936. Though the weather was unfavorable, this band of maidens and youths braved the mid-winter blizzard to attend the get-together. Many games and relay races as well as dancing were enjoyed within the warm atmosphere of the gymnasium. Refreshments were served, a fact which may help to explain just why the military boys were so eager to be on guard duty.

FRESHMAN B CLASS

Last September a large band of unsuspecting papooses entered the tribal circle of the Waukegan township high school. The first few weeks spent in this wigwam were filled with chaotic days, for all have experienced the jests of the stalwart brave who is a senior, and therefore believes that he knows all. It was several weeks before these innocent children learned not to mistake room 400 for the swimming pool, or to end up in the girls' locker room when they wanted to go to the Junior office. All unaware, they accepted the directions of every waggish sophomore, and too often came to woe. True, when one is in constant danger of being poked in the eye by some wandering elbow, it is difficult to remember to go up the right stairs, and such minor things as locking one's locker are invariably forgotten.

Then after six weeks of untold torture, struggling with Latin and Algebra, the report cards were handed out. What groans of disappointment from these papooses who felt disgraced for life with one eighty-five. What smiles of gratitude to that English teacher who actually let them pass! But will Mama's smile be quite as bright over that seventy in history?

Toward the end of the first semester, when these freshmen had learned the ways of high school, they, under the sponsorship of their chiefs, Miss Osling and Mr. Suchanski, elected Harry Pearson, president. His able assistants in all tribal matters were: vice-president, Marjorie Stringwell, and secretary-treasurer, Harry Olander.

Although the class itself has not as yet given any powwows of its own, they have one young maiden who is making a name for herself in dramatics. This promising papoose is Jane Chiswell who will be remembered as the petted younger sister in "Out of the Fog."

ACTIVITIES

"Gitche Manito, the mighty, Calls the tribes of men together,"

ANNUAL STAFF

Many a papoose, looking in vain for Mr. Prichard's office, has stumbled into Room 9, the wigwam of the Annual Staff, and stood amazed at the sight he there beheld. To one side is heard the clatter of typewriters, and, well may the beginning student in typing stand in awe of the flying fingers of Dorothy Larsen, Bertha Vanka, Isabelle Markkula and Pauline Peterson. Even Charles Filstead, of the business staff, can be found busily typing—that is, when he isn't out collecting ads or relating to anyone interested his experiences at the dance the Friday before.

Alice Schott, editor, is kept mighty busy preparing the dummy, consulting with the advisers and art teacher and seeing that the rest of the staff are kept at work. Byron Criswell, official snapshot photographer, is constantly bustling about, snapping students after falls on the ice, and photographing teachers, with harassed looks on their faces, correcting exams. Robert Olson, sports editor, may be found writing up Saturday's game or asking, "Who won the swimming meet, anyway?"

The calendar section is being organized, the first semester by Marjorie Tinsley and during the second semester by her successor Miriam Adelson. Marion Helmkamp, literary editor, is collecting essays and writing poetry describing the teachers. Loretta Marks is busy collecting jokes from the other three members of the humor staff. Vera Collier and Elizabeth Hall, associate editors, have charge of circulation and writeups. It is a common sight to find them discussing the Daniel Boone assembly, sponsored by the staff on December 9, filing subscriptions, collecting information on write-ups, or writing Annual publicity for the school paper.

There is a great deal of excitement over the pasting of pictures for the engraver as each boy or girl wants to look up his or her big thrill's countenance and sigh over it. When the time comes to paste pictures for the dummy, "Mimi" Adelson succeeds in pasting a few in upside down, but these are straightened out by Edson Loftus with the help of Eleanor Edwards. Even last year's pictures cause a flurry, for, when the time comes to cut and file them, a couple of our young friends have an itching desire to keep one or two or three. But, of course, they don't.

ANNUAL ART STAFF

The Annual Art Staff is a small band of youthful paint dabblers whose chief work is to illustrate the Annual. This year, unlike other years, the illustrations for the insert pages were photographed clay models instead of zinc etchings. These artists borrowed and rented from the wife of a one-time Indian Chief his war bonnet, tomahawk, and various other things which characterize the dress of the ancient Indian. If one happened to pass the Junior Assembly any period during the first semester, he would see the stalwart brave, Hiawatha, standing by his wigwam—his face expressionless like that of a cigar store Indian. It was so hard to keep from laughing when he knew how silly he looked. The rest of the art class stood around and sketched from this model and from many others, depicting the life and lore of the native Americans.

After a sketch was finished to the satisfaction of the art chief, Miss Higley, the young brave or maiden began to model in clay. Although modeling clay in base relief is not easy, these pupils were able to erase with the greatest of ease. After a plaque, as the model is called, was finished, a frantic call for the photographer was heard. He came running to take a few pictures of these works of art. The photographs were in turn sent to the engravers. Now you all know from whence came the beautiful insert pages of this year's Annual.

One young maiden designed and cut for the fly leaf of the Annual a scene from Indian life which is indeed a piece of art worthy of its use. Around these photographed pictures were sketched caricatures of modern school boys and girls. These were done in zincs and were much easier than the clay plaques.

The credit for all this splendid work goes to William Fucik, Viola Byrne, Dorothy Dix, Peggy Hedstrom, William Rose, Robert Schoenke, Muriel Zahn, Betty Blair, Elizabeth DeJong, Wanda Nellans, Clarence Simon, Beverly Challender, Leslie Ojala, Mary Lou Price, Helga Kaario, Helen Hoigaard, Harold Edwards, and Donald Mackey, who each spent many a ninth period perfecting his own particular work.

ANNUAL PRINTERS STAFF

Under the direction of Chieftains Schoenoff, Meslow and Smith, in a tiny wigwam at the corner of the Senior village, the history of a mighty tribe is set down for posterity. Warriors volunteer their aid in this new endeavor, thirty hours of their free time must be devoted to the cause.

With leather and parchment, the band of braves work many moons to prepare a yearbook that will do justice to the gigantic feats that have been performed by the members of the W. T. H. S. tribe. It is no easy task, but it is mastered.

With curious metals of ingenious design, the youths inscribe the cryptic signs which recount the tales of valor. The war paint, used in decorating the book, enhances its beauty and adds color to the deeds of bravery.

The work continues for days and nights—through days of rest and worship. Hard work, long hours, speed, accuracy, dexterity, and unusual precision must all be combined to produce a successful Annual "W."

The metals are bound together in page forms and impressions made on the parchment. Nearly 60,000 impressions must be taken before the book is done. After time is allowed for drying, the business of folding and gathering begins. One each of every page and subject heading must be collected in perfect order and bound into a book.

For uniformity, the books must all be trimmed to the same size. With a huge knife, many books are trimmed at one time. After trimming on all except the bound side, the books are ready to be fixed to the covers.

Glue is prepared and brushed onto the end sheets, the covers are firmly pressed into place while the glue is still wet and hot, and the books are put under pressure until the glue has set. Then the books are laid aside to thoroughly dry before being distributed among the members of the tribe.

The work is through, the braves relax. The year is soon over and the tribes gather for a final powwow where all the braves receive awards for whatever special merit they have earned. To each will be awarded another feather for his headdress.

THE STUDENT "W" WORLD

To hear, see and feel what goes on in the remotest regions of the W.T.H.S. tribal domain and to interpret and report these incidents to those within the group and others interested becomes the business of the Student "W" World, official organ for collecting and disseminating news.

The paper is issued on Friday morning of each week during the school year, and the time for its distribution is looked forward to with keen anticipation on the part of all students. This year's paper has the distinction of being larger than in any previous year. It has averaged more than six pages per issue. Special editions were published for Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter.

The Student "W" World is a charter member of the Illinois State High School Press Association and of the National Scholastic Press Association. Delegates representing both the editorial and the business staffs attended the annual convention of the state association which was held in conjunction with the State High School Conference at Urbana last November. Four delegates represented the staff at the annual convention of the national association which convened at the Hotel Schroeder in Milwaukee during the first week in December. The "W" World has always received much favorable comment in the critical service and round table sessions at these meetings.

The publication was again entered in the annual high school newspaper contest conducted by the National Scholastic Press Association. Last year the "W" World had the distinction of attaining a higher rating in the national contest than it had previously attained. Reports from the 1935-36 contest were not yet available at the time of going to press.

Members of the advanced journalism classes constitute the Student "W" World staff. Work on the newspaper affords an ideal medium for putting into constructive practice the more theoretical work covered in the beginning journalism course. While some attempt is made to permit each member to do the type of work he likes and can do best, the value of varied experience is not overlooked. During the course of the semester in which a student serves as a member of the staff, he is encouraged to try his hand at all the types of duties involved in the publishing of a weekly high school newspaper.

In some respects, the "W" World may be said to be a cooperative enterprise, involving the more advanced classes in printing and in typing as well as the members of the journalism groups. The publication is one of the few larger high school papers in the state which is printed in its own school print shop. Besides providing a fine medium for the practical application of printing fundamentals on the part of the boys in the school shop, this arrangement affords an opportunity for the editorial staff members to follow the processes through which a newspaper article travels from the time of the reporter's observation or interview to the actual delivery of the paper to its subscribers. Selected representatives from the advanced classes in typing contribute much to the smooth operation of the "W" World's routine by insuring that each piece of copy is carefully and neatly typed before it goes to the printers to be set in type.

One of the highlights of the staff's outside activities for the past year was the Hobo Rally. This has become an annual event and is held in the gym the last Friday morning of the first semester. This year's affair proved to be more popular than ever before. The list of prizes donated by local business places was unusually long and attractive.

DEBATE

Renowned members of Waukegan township high school tribe are those aspiring youths and maidens known as debaters. The debate squad is one of the oldest organizations in the school. During the last ten years each successive purple and gold debate squad has competed with other teams from Chicago and suburban high schools. It has been customary within the last few years for several states to use the same question for debates. As a result of this arrangement much better material may be secured than would otherwise be possible.

The question debated this 1935-'36 school year was: "Resolved that the several states should enact legislation providing for a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense." Debates were arranged with such schools as Kenosha high school, Maine township high school, Des Plaines high school, and New Trier township high school. In each case two contests were held, one at W.T.H.S. and the other at the school of the opposing team.

The members of Waukegan affirmative team this season were: Earlene Loftus, Burton Hillman, and Robert Prichard, with James Van Slyke as alternate. On the negative team were: Ralph Nelson, Franklin Ford, and Robert Fossland, with Betty Hall as alternate.

Each speaker constructs an eight minute main speech and also develops a five minute rebuttal. According to Mr. Sandven, the debate coach, the main objective of the club is to develop in each student debater all of the essentials of good speaking which include correct speech construction, convincing argumentation, effective voice, diction, and gesturing, as well as presence of mind on the stage.

Any young brave or maiden attending Waukegan high school is eligible for membership. The officers of the club are the captains of the teams. This year Robert Prichard was selected captain of the affirmative team and Robert Fossland captain of the negative team. Practices are held in the Public Library and in the junior school auditorium. The judges of the debates are secured from some institution outside of Waukegan. These judges decide the winners of the debates and give critical analysis of great value to all contestants.

HISTORY CLUB

Each young Indian youth or maiden, upon becoming a sophomore, has the privilege of joining the ranks of an old, renowned, and active band. This band, one of the largest groups in W. T. H. S., is called the History Club. The heap-big-chief of the club is Mr. Hurd, and his council circle for the first semester consisted of: President, Kirsti Idstrom; vice-president, Rachel Sands; secretary, Joe Rayniak; treasurer, Barbara Morrow; historian, Katherine Hall; sergeant-at-arms, Jimmy Walker; directors, Ruth Mortenson and Evelyn Smith; program chairman, Dorothy Nichols. Meetings of the tribes are held every other Friday in the Junior Assembly immediately after school.

When 3:15 rolls around everyone streams in and dashes for a particular seat where he or she can see the sun shining on the curly hair of his or her favorite. Gum is cordially passed around; sophomores turn up with late dues; the treasurer dashes around looking for Mr. Hurd, who is calling for Betty Jane Larr to play the piano. At last our harassed chief pounds for order and the tumult subsides into low whispers. It is Initiation Day. All the old members are sitting with smug grins on their faces while the new members tremble in anticipation of the tortures perpetrated by the initiation committee. However, they courageously stand up under the strain of paddling, nursery rhymes, telling about certain dates, or even singing the school song, which strangely, few of them seem to really know. The initiation over, their blushing faces brighten at the sight of refreshments, candy, doughnuts, or apples. Then the clean-up committee bustles about telling everyone to put his paper in the basket. About this time a few belated members, half of them boys, the other half girls talking to the boys, turn up for eats and the singing which closes every meeting.

The new members are soon swept into the excitement of planning general assemblies, dances, a Chicago trip, alumni banquet, hikes, and amateur nite. On November 15, the History Club sponsored a dance. A very good crowd attended and many of those present proclaimed it one of the best powwows of the season. Music was furnished by Spike Maki's orchestra.

About the beginning of October plans were made for a Chicago trip on November 8. Chairman of this event was LeRoy Lindgren. On this occasion the club visited the Armour stock yards, the Historical Society, the NBC studios, Tribune Tower, the Merchandise Mart, and Chinatown. Of course, throughout the following year whenever an English teacher asked for a theme on "a place you have visited and found interesting" she was rewarded with gruesome tales of the stockyards, weird and beautiful stories of the Chinese temples and monotonous lists of "what we saw at the Historical Society."

The Annual Banquet, which was held January 9, under the chairmanship of Helen Sutton, was a great success. During the year the club had earned some money for the benefit of the Piney Woods school for colored people in Kentucky, so they felt that a Southern theme for the banquet would be very appropriate. Earlene Loftus, chairman of the decoration committee and her assistants, planned a very attractive banquet room. Spanish moss sent from Piney Woods hung from the ceiling of the cafeteria. Colored mummies were drawn on cardboard and covered the windows and the History Club crest hung above the speakers table. Mistletoe was also liberally hung about. The color scheme was effectively carried out in gold and brown and was carried out in the invitations, menus, and name cards. Alfred Ellinwood, Helen Sengenberger and Muriel Zahn headed the committees which planned these. A minstrel show followed the dinner. The members who participated were Betty Pearsall, Howard Seeber, Mayme Kirn, Donald Anderson, Barbara Parmalee, Gordon Thomas, Pearl Nilsen, Mary Beth Phillips, LeRoy Lindgren, Ethel Naudts, Marjorie Arnold, Thomas Butler and Betty Jane Larr. While these actors were blackening their faces and setting their stage, a program of speeches and music was given by former members of the club. Sylvia Jacobs gave several very amusing readings. After the delightful minstrel show, everyone adjourned to the lower hall for dancing. That night our youths and maidens went to bed with pleasant memories of turkey, mistletoe, dancing and colored minstrels, and sighs of regret for tomorrow's school.

The other activities of the club were numerous. On September twenty-seventh a hare and hound hike was held to the Bowen Country Club. Before the Morton football game on October 11th a pep meeting was sponsored by the History Club. A skit was presented by various youths and maidens. Talks were made by Coach Brown, Mr. Grosche and Mr. Thalman. Our football teamsters hesitantly came to the platform.

A parade was given just before the game with entries from many school organizations as well as entries of individual. The History Club float represented an old fashioned family going to the game in a farm wagon. Jimmy Walker as Paw and Katherine Hall as Maw had quite a time subduing their eager children and answering all their loud questions about the "city sights." Among the hair-ribboned, ginghamed girls and the overalled freckled boys were Barbara Morrow, Bernice Kane, Burton Hillman and Vera Collier. The float won third place in the parade.

On November 19, Charles Eagle Plume, a genuine young Blackfoot Indian brave, again visited our tribe by the invitation of the Club. At a matinee performance open to both high school and grade school students, he gave several tribal dances and songs of the Blackfeet Indians. The maidens and braves of our tribe were fascinated with his tales of the traditions of his people.

During the second semester of the school year the History Club reorganized and new officers were elected. Vincent Guerin was selected for the new chieftain and under him served: Barbara Morrow, vice-president; Lymann Starr, treasurer; Mary Helen Smith, secretary; Rita Johnson, historian; Harvey Shea, sergeant-at-arms; Betty Jane Larr and Walter Stenborg, directors; Doris Harphan, program chairman.

JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Many moons ago there existed in our tribe a Junior Chamber of Commerce, whose chief was Mr. Robert S. Barnes. This group was disbanded five years later. In September, 1935 Mr. Barnes, with the help of other commercial chiefs, re-organized this group in Waukegan township high school.

A constitution was written and provided for the following:

OBJECTS: To stimulate interest in commercial education and in the business world. To institute a friendly attitude among the club members.

MEMBERSHIP: Members must be commercial majors; membership is open to all students who have had General Business Training and who are following a commercial course, excepting juniors and seniors in the 1935-'36 school year. Any juniors or seniors who are taking second year bookkeeping, second year shorthand and typing, or who intend to take these second-year courses are eligible for membership.

OFFICERS: The officers for the first semester were Chief Harvey Shea assisted by Lillian Berglund, Stella Makar, Albert Kaloustian, Agnes De Bartola, Sophie Arzoomanian, Mamie Diagula, and Georgia Sandstrom. During the second semester the new chieftains were Rita Johnson, Brownie Freberg, Mary Gorishek, and Albena Bartel.

TERMS OF OFFICERS: The term of all officers shall expire after service of one semester. Past officers shall be eligible for reelection if they are still in school.

DUTIES OF OFFICERS: The president shall preside over all meetings and is a member ex-officio of all committees. The president is empowered to appoint all committees. The president is empowered to call special club meetings whenever he deems that good and sufficient reasons exist for such meetings.

The vice-president shall assume the duties of the president when that officer is absent.

The secretary shall keep a written record of the minutes of all club meetings, read the minutes of the last meeting and conduct all club correspondence save that found necessary to be performed by committee chairmen.

The treasurer shall receive all club funds, issue receipts, deposit all club funds with the activities secretary of W.T.H.S., pay all duly authorized club bills and make a financial report at club meetings. The treasurer's record shall be audited by the audit committee once each semester.

MEETINGS: Meetings shall be held on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each calendar month.

DUES: Club dues shall be twenty-five cents a semester.

Permanent committees for the first semester were: program: Agnes De Bartola, Lillian Berglund; social: Velma Knox, Maxine Riley, and Jane Montee; publicity: Georgia Sandstrom, Lucille Tyrrell, Sophie Arzoomanian.

The committees for the last semester were: executive: Rita Johnson, Brownie Freeberg, Mary Gorishek, Albena Bartel, Agnes De Bartola, Dorothy Wysocki, Harvey Shea, and William Woodard; audit: Sophie Arzoomanian, and William Woodard; publicity: Georgia Sandstrom, papers; Stella Makar, bulletins; and Alice Jackson, posters; refreshments: Mayme Kirn, Margaret Laser, Ann Kerzick; programs: Agnes De Bartola, Albert Kaloustean, William Woodard, Eleanor Wysocki, Yolanda Gentile, and Mamie Diagula.

Amendments to this constitution may be made at any regular club meetings by a favorable two-third vote of members present at said meetings.

ELECTIONS: Elections shall be held at the first regular meeting of the club in each semester. A majority vote shall prevail.

BY-LAWS: Such by-laws as the membership may deem necessary for the guidance of the club may be adopted at any regular club meeting by a majority vote of members present.

SPONSORS: The faculty sponsor must approve all club activities.

During the year this group held many meetings at which the entertainment was varied. At one meeting Robert Galloway, Secretary of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce Secretaries, gave an interesting lecture. Miss Hodson of the Gregg School in Chicago gave an interesting talk to the young Indians, while another interesting visitor was Anne Wilson, the chieftain, of the first Junior Chamber of Commerce.

POSTER CLUB

For many years Indians used the sign language. They also used symbols on their wigwams and on their jewelry and household utensils. Even their money was merely shells. Through these signs and symbols they expressed something which they wanted to say or impress on the minds of others. We no longer do as they did, but we do use pictures and colors and printing to draw attention to important events. Under the leadership of Mr. Jickling, some members of the tribe have formed an organization called the Poster Club. This group makes posters which adorn our bulletin boards announcing plays, football and basketball games, operettas, concerts, and special meetings. Cleone Kistler made two such attractive posters for the play, "Milestones" that she won a position on the programs of the play.

The first event of the year sponsored by this ambitious group was a "Popularity Contest" to determine which football hero was the most popular. Dorothy Dix was general chairman of the affair. She was ably assisted by Inez Sandelin and Andrew Black. Only those who held season football tickets were allowed to vote.

No youths were elected as officers, but the positions of president, vice-president and secretary were held respectively by those fair maidens, Elizabeth De Jong, Dorothy Dix and Wanda Nellans.

The braves and maidens of our tribe showed much of their spirit on November ninth when they defied inclement weather to attend a successful powwow sponsored by the Poster Club. The music was provided by the Flying Cadets.

At the close of the year in May the annual picnic was held. A rollicking time was enjoyed by all from Chief Jickling to even the smallest papoose. The youths and maidens of this club certainly deserve much praise and many feathers for helping to make successful so many school events.

A stalwart brave, who started much of his paint dabbling in the Poster Club under the leadership of Chief Jickling, has already won his first feathers as an artist. Riemo Ratti, a 1934 graduate on the tribal halls of Waukegan township high school, and who now is working on a C. C. C. project, won recognition from the Milwaukee Journal which in January carried one of his paintings in its Sunday color section.

ART CLUB

For the first time in the history of the W. T. H. S. tribe, an art club was organized this year. Those brave youths and plucky maidens, who were interested in art, banded together in the latter part of the first semester under the sponsorship of their leader Miss F. Higley. They elected Elizabeth De Jong as their junior leader. She was ably assisted by the other officers, Betty Blair, Muriel Zahn, Dorothy Dix, and Jack Hofflander.

Many interesting things have been accomplished by this new club. At one of their meetings in February, that stalwart brave, Franklin Ford, gave a very worth-while illustrated lecture on the historical paintings by Ferris, with whom you are already familiar. Also, during that month, an exhibit of pictorial photography from the Chicago Camera Club was displayed in the art room. At the first meeting in March, Mrs. Eve Pyfer gave a very interesting lecture on etching. She exhibited some of her own original etchings along with those of the braves of our own tribe.

In March the club gave a short skit for its members and for the Art Appreciation groups in the junior assembly. This sketch had as its setting an exclusive Paris shop. By means of models, a group of students illustrated the good and bad points in costume design. That well-known brave of the junior class, William Fucik, had charge of writing the dialogue. The costumes for this gala powwow were designed by those well-known paint-dabblers: Elizabeth DeJong, Wanda Nellans, Mary Lou Price, Helga Kaario, Helen Hoigaard, Betty Blair, William Fucik, and Loretta Kennick.

The dues for this up and coming young band of Indians is twenty-five cents a semester. It is called "up and coming" because every day several new members are welcomed into the band. These young aspirants are planning a trip to Chicago in the late spring. Here they will visit the tribal halls of the Chicago Art Institute, sacred to the hearts of all these young would-be "Rembrandts."

JUNIOR RED CROSS

Under the sponsorship of Miss Jerg, those of the W. T. H. S. tribe, interested in the welfare of the less fortunate, gather in their wigwam twice a month to discuss current topics. This group composed of stalwart youths and maidens selected from the various home rooms this year elected Katherine Hall to lead their band. Elizabeth Hall and Dorothy Wysocki were chosen to help her in the deluge of work that overwhelmed the club during the first semester.

These youngsters under the chairmanship of Mary Ellen Sams wrapped cigarettes in cheery paper and sent them to the large reservation in North Chicago, known as U. S. Veterans Hospital. At Thanksgiving and Christmas an extra treat was given these veterans by the Juniors in the form of candy, cards, and various games which help to while away the hours of an invalid.

Shortly before Christmas the Red Cross sent mite boxes to each home room. Each person who gave a penny or more was rewarded with a feather, a nice new Red Cross pin. The money collected in the mite boxes was used for Christmas baskets. In collaboration with the Girls' League, clothing, canned goods, and such staples as flour, sugar, and potatoes were brought to school for Christmas baskets.

This year the club was able to take care of six families. During the second semester Katherine Hall was appointed chairman of the scrapbook committee. A scrapbook is compiled every year by the Waukegan chapter of the Junior Red Cross to be sent to some foreign country. It is so made that it gives foreign youths an accurate description of school life here within the halls of W. T. H. S. The illustrations for the scrapbook were drawn by Katherine Hall, Betty Blair, Mary Gorishek, and Katherine Sevastos. Elizabeth Hall wrote verses to accompany the sketches.

In November the Junior Red Cross sponsored a powwow after the second home basketball game. This successful affair was under the chairmanship of Elizabeth Hall and James Galvin.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

In the lowest corner of the wigwam belonging to the Junior school students of W. T. H. S. tribe is the girls' club room furnished by the Girls' League whose chief is Miss Rundquist. This room, charmingly furnished by the girls, is fitted up in the style of early America, but not as far back as Pocahontas.

The purpose of this band is to do good turns for everyone. At Christmas, baskets are distributed to the poor—a fact, which helps to explain to the bewildered braves and youths of the school—the appearance of huge boxes in the halls during the first weeks of December. Clothing and canned goods are brought by every student. If a student loses his gloves, purse, or a book he may hope to find them in the Lost and Found Department maintained by the Girls' League in the junior office. From the unclaimed articles an auction is held every spring. The proceeds of the auction go to the treasury of the club.

Anyone may join this band of helpful maidens which is ruled by Rita Johnson, Elizabeth Kastler, Genevieve O'Dett, Ruth Williams, and the Girls' Council, composed of one representative from each wigwam, or home room, in the whole tribe.

The last of several powwows held by this club included a Halloween party, a get-together party, and a Christmas party for the crippled children. A transfer or get-together party is held twice a year—one each semester. To this party are invited all maidens who have transferred to these tribal halls from other schools. It gives the strangers a chance to become acquainted with our local students.

In the spring comes the Annual Convention to which all members look forward eagerly. Only those who have shown interest in the clubs' activities and attended all meetings are permitted to attend. This year Rita Johnson was elected to lead a band who have organized a Presidents' Club to which belong all the presidents of Girls' League Organizations in this district.

G. A. A.

Under the guidance of their leaders, the Misses Bonar and Durkin, a great tribe of sport-loving girls get together in the junior assembly. Between these more formal meetings the "gang of athletes," as they call themselves, are not inactive. On four or five days a week after school hours one finds the agile damsels poised for a plunge in the cool depths of the swimming pool or perhaps engaged in a strenuous game of basketball, soccer, volleyball, or indoor as the season calls for. The motive for such an outburst of energy is to earn the points necessary to become a member of the Girls' Athletic Association. Any maiden belonging to W.T.H.S. reservation, who wishes to become one of this sporting tribe, must first earn six hundred points by participating in the various sports as the season rolls around, as well as by daily observance of certain health rules.

In the fall Eleanor Camp was elected chief of this merry group. Her aides were Velona Mordhorst, vice-president; Ruth Birchfield, secretary; and Betty Allensworth, treasurer. Soon after the election, a grand initiation was ministered by the officers. The newcomers were obliged to wear hair ribbons and little tea aprons in school for one day.

One afternoon after school, early in the autumn, this bevy of nimble nymphs hiked out to Weiss Field for a hot dog roast. On December 17 the dashing athletes gave a Mother and Daughter Tea. They also sponsored a dance after the Oak Park football game. At Christmas time in their new club room they held a benefit for poor children and invalids. In the spring these sprightly maidens climaxed their social activities with a delightful water pageant.

The regular activities of the club include: soccer, the first sport scheduled in the fall, then speedball, volley ball, basketball, tumbling, indoor baseball, track, junior and senior life saving, and rhythmic and interpretative dancing. As each sport draws to a close, a tournament is held between the upper class team, composed of juniors and seniors and the lower class team, made up of freshmen and sophomores.

JUNIOR CHEMIST CLUB

In one far corner of the W. T. H. S. reservation dwells a small group of scientific-minded youths. They are the medicine men of the tribe. Twice a month, under the sponsorship of Chief N. J. Anderson, they assemble after school in room 205 senior building. At each meeting, this band of about thirty carry on difficult and mystic experiments, well understood by only themselves. The purpose of their research is to clarify some of the mysteries in their class work.

Any youth of the purple and gold tribe enrolled in a science course is eligible for membership. As this aggregation of exponents-of-the-test-tube got well under way last fall, they elected Robert Fossland as their leader. He was ably assisted by Barker Altunian, Eleanor Kjesbo, and Douglas Morton.

During the early fall these dauntless braves and comely damsels ventured on several scouting trips to the Pines. In this remote and tranquil site they made merry until the very woods reverberated with their laughter. Strange as it may seem, on their first trek these fun-loving youths wandered from the trail and became lost in the swamps. As a result wet feet and colds was the lot of everyone. The second trip was not so disastrous.

When the second semester rolled around, Elizabeth Hall was elected chief. George Standart, Norma Tewes, and Bob Bradley were chosen to be her aides. These newly elected-guides planned many more interesting outings. The second semester promises to be quite as exciting as the first. In February this moccasined league went upon another scouting trip. This time they explored the tribal halls of the Abbott Laboratories. Already plans are well under way for a tour of Copper's Coke Plant and other places of interest in this locality.

On March fourteenth, this gay troupe of chemists spent a delightful evening at the home of one of their members. With partners of their own choice, dancing, games, and refreshments, an enjoyable evening was had by everyone.

At the regular meetings throughout the year various eminent chiefs gave interesting dissertations having to do with the club's recondite experiments. The following were speakers: Chiefs Steinert, Singer, John and Waldorf.

HI-Y CLUB

This clan is made up of thirty-two braves of W.T.H.S. from sophomores to seniors. They are carefully selected for this group. Mr. Schoenoff of the high school faculty, and Mr. Roger of Y.M.C.A. staff are the sponsors. The club holds their powwow every Monday at which time the braves consume Indian stew at the Y.M.C.A. After the meal, a short business meeting is held by that eminent chief, Joe Rayniak and then a program is presented. A speaker, or a discussion on some subject of national interest, moving pictures, or a trip to some industry in town is in order.

The Hi-Y Club sponsors the annual Father and Son banquet. This year "Tug" Wilson, athletic director of Northwestern University, was secured as the speaker. The members take complete charge of this affair even to introducing the speakers and toastmaster.

The officers of the Hi-Y Club for 1935-'36 school year were:

Joe Rayniak, president; Dick Curlee, vice-president; Al Ellinwood, secretary; and George Fucik, treasurer.

Each year the club sends delegates to the Illinois State Older Boys' Conference. These boys take a trip to some part of the state, this year to Rock Island. They spend three days in an educational and constructive conference. In the conference the braves have an opportunity to discuss with warriors from other parts of the state the problems of their school and town and learn how affairs are handled in different clubs all over the state.

At the conference business men and college presidents are secured as leaders. They give their outlook on life and inform the boys about what to expect in life and how to prepare for it. Every boy leaves the conference with so much helpful information that not until months later does it all take effect. The main objective of the Hi-Y Club is to promote clean speech, clean sport, and clean living among young men.

ONLY ME

The first powwow sponsored by the youths and maidens of the Dramatics tribe was "Only Me." After a great deal of work the play was ready for production on September 26, 1935. Since this was one of the first powwows of the season for the Waukegan township high school tribe, all the braves and maidens, and many of the chieftains, turned up for the celebration. None of them were disappointed, for the play was a splendid combination of romance, humor, and heartaches.

Sheila Thayer, played by Betty Pearsall, a girl who has lived in Mexico for several years, is now living at the home of her cousin, Evelyn Thayer. Mary Lennon, as Evelyn, is very angry because Billie Bainbridge, played by LeRoy Lindgren, whom she looks upon as her fiancé, seems to enjoy Sheila's company more than her own. Lynn Delorme and her father, Dr. Delorme played by Muriel Zahn and Robert Goodale are the Thayer's next-door neighbors and they are a great help during an emergency. When Nathan Lansing, the villain, in the person of Burton Hillman, is shot, supposedly by Billie but in reality by Lyman Starr, as Sancho de Garcia, Dr. Delorme sees that Nate is cared for at a hospital in another city. Grandma Thayer is very effectively interpreted by Helen Sengenberger. It is she who comforts Sheila who has fallen irreparably in love with Billie. Billie, in turn, believes that she loves Sancho. The audience enjoyed very much the Spaniard's stiff, formal air and funny expressions, Nate's boldness, Evelyn's jealousy, and the eccentricities of the village hair dresser and manicurist, Miss Finnerty, played by Ruth Poff.

Billie Bainbridge is an aviator, but he has not flown for several months because of an accident. He flies Nate to a hospital after he is wounded and thus saves the man's life though endangering his own. The audience was kept in suspense as to who would win Sheila until the final act of the play, but all ended happily. Nate and Lynn, Billie and Sheila, and Sancho and his Spanish senorita, all lived happily ever after, while Evelyn, with all her jealousy, was left out in the cold.

The stage crew for the play consisted of Ethel Naudts, Patricia Greene, Patty Morrow, Elizabeth Hall, Eleanor Edwards, Ralph Nelson, Robert Johnson and William Fucik.

OUT OF THE FOG

The braves and maidens of the Dramatics Club presented "Out of the Fog," the second dramatic production of the 1935-'36 school year, in the senior assembly on November 1. In contrast to the usual living-room setting, this play was depicted against a rural background, a country grocery store. The success of the stage setting was due to the able stage crew consisting of Jeanne Jenson, Robert Johnson, Chase Mix, Lydia Anne Hurd, Wanda Nellans, Mary Lennon, Inez Sanderlin, and Elizabeth Schwartz.

Sophie Duncan, played by Lois French, owns the grocery store in a small town in Iowa. Her mother, a wealthy woman, is very ill—Sophie hopes to gain all the property when the mother dies. In the meantime she has complete dominance over Henry, her poor hen-pecked husband. There is also Gladys, her charming young daughter, played by Ruth Mortenson; Marius, who follows in the footsteps of her mother, and Annabelle Parker, a lovable old maid who peddles cosmetics, when not being of any other service to Sophie. Sophie's harshness and civilness forced Gladys to seek much comfort in advice from father Henry, played by Bryan Husted, concerning his friendship with Paul Nichols, the son of Bert Nichols, the village paper editor. Ralph Nelson, as Paul, proved invaluable in the development of the story. Frank Nolan, as Bert Nichols, the editor, gave a sincere performance.

To Eleanor Edwards, as Minnie Blake, Sophie would not credit a can of milk which Minnie could not pay for because her husband Joe, Willard Bowers, was out of work. Jane Riddle, the town gossip and Frank Walton, the errand boy, played by Yeadis Jones and William Fucik respectively, form the rural characters. Annabel Parker so longs for love and comfort, that she advertises for a husband. Edson Loftus comes in answer to the ad. However, Annabel finds out just in time that he is not the one for her, although Jane Chiswell, as the mischievous Marcia, tries her best to queer Annabel in this affair. When Grandma Meridith finally dies it is Annabel, not Sophie, who gets the money. Lemuel Cranston, the family lawyer, played by Gordon Thomas, reads the startling will to the astonished and angry Sophie. After overcoming Sophie's dominance Annabel finds a life of her own with Bert Nichols helping to share her happiness. "Out of the Fog" was the first play ever produced at W.T.H.S. by a student director. This honor was given to Rachael Sands, who helped to make the play a success.

MILESTONES

Three years ago the Dramatics tribe presented a play familiar to every one, "Little Women." This year they again donned the wigs and costumes of other days and became a family of English ship-builders. John Rhead and Rose Sibley, played by Lloyd Strang and Rachel Sands, change from young people in love to prosperous grandparents before the interested eyes of the audience. And, as they change from young to old, so is the story of ships told from the time of wooden boats to that of great steel steamships.

The play opens in 1860. Gertrude Rhead, played by Dorothy Nichols, is engaged to Willard Bowers as Sam Sibley. But because Sam refuses to see John Rhead's views on iron ships, and because Sam forbids his sister, Rose, to become engaged to John, Gertrude breaks her engagement.

Other players in the first act who take the part of interested onlookers are Corrinne Hotchkiss as Mrs. Rhead, mother of John; Gertrude and Ralph Nelson, as Ned Pym a young dandy, who though rather blunt in his conversation, considers himself extremely witty.

The second act takes place in 1880. John and Rose are happily married and very prosperous. John has been made a lord. Their lovely young daughter, Emily is played by Mary Louise Van Sickle. Evidently Emily takes after her Auntie Gertrude who has remained unmarried, for she too proves somewhat obstinate by falling in love with a young Arthur Preece from her father's mills. This role is taken by Lyman Starr. However, her parents insist that she marry Ned Pym, Lord Monkhurst, now fat and fifty. Sam Sibley has recently married a young typist from his office. Elizabeth Hall has the part of Nancy, his wife. Twenty years again pass. It is 1912. Emily, Lady Monkhurst, is giving a party for the golden wedding anniversary of Rose and John. Her daughter, the Honorable Muriel, played by Patricia Greene, and Richard Sibley, Nancy's son, played by Edson Loftus, fall in love. William Fucik as young Lord Monkhurst, Emily's son, is extremely highbrow and very brotherly. And then there are three butlers. Peter Lucas, Norman Twentyman and Gordon Thomas, all typical English servants. The audience was kept in suspense until the closing scene when Muriel and Richard announced their engagement.

GROWING PAINS

Each year the braves and maidens, who have at last attained the rank of seniors take part in presenting the senior play. This year the Senior A's chose a story of young love. "Growing Pains," the play selected, tells of the hardships of a first "crush," the tribulations of becoming "ladies" and "gentlemen," and the ensuing humorous situations. Mary Jane Nellans was thoroughly enjoyed as the tomboy, Terry MacIntyre, who, unfortunately for the peace of the family and friends, got a "crush" on Brian, the neighborhood thrill, played by Swetco Mihevc. Howard Seeber, as George MacIntyre, caused a great deal of laughter by his very brotherly quarrels with Terry, his disgust at his parents' ignorance about those things essential to a boy's happiness, and his brief embarrassed appearance in trunks after a playful boy-friend, Dutch, played by Elmer Luke, had purloined his trousers.

Professor and Mrs. MacIntyre, played by Joe Oberman and Kirsti Idstrom, were constantly harassed by the adolescent perverseness of their son and daughter. It was at a party at the MacIntyre home that the play came to a climax. Terry, in tears because Brian preferred Prudence Darling, the new girl, to herself, asked Dutch to be her partner. Dutch's girl, Patty, played by Rachel Sands, was confined to her home with a cold, but she arrived at the scene of the party in time to create a disturbance. The other girls, Evelyn Smith as Miriam, and Charlotte Jensen as Jane, also thought that Brian was "swell" and many were the jealous glances cast about.

Of course there was a wallflower. Marjorie Tinsley was very effective as Elsie Patterson with braids, horn-rimmed glasses and clumsy feet. Her mother was Elbe Tasker, and the audience thoroughly enjoyed her outraged feelings at the suggestion that her daughter was not as popular as the other girls. They also enjoyed George's disgust at having to call for poor Elsie. Norma Saloma played Prudence Darling very competently. Her goo-goo eyes, honeyed drawl, just enough sophistication, and a pleasant ignorance which flattered any boy's vanity—all caused the audience many excited giggles.

After many an embarrassing moment peace was restored, and the various guests drifted home. But the adolescent loves of Terry and George, Brian and the rest were not to be ended so soon. Elizabeth Ferry, as Vivian, soon captivated George's attention and the audience was left with pleasant memories of the younger peoples' mix-ups and with reminiscences of their own.

NEW FIRES

The Senior Play of the June, 1936 class was "New Fires," a three-act comedy by Charles Burdette. The class sponsors were Miss Talcott and Mr. Frey. Miss Dunn directed the play which had been selected by a committee of students. The story centers around the efforts of a middle-aged author to instill some homely virtues into a family that is typically modern. Circumstances place Stephen Santry, played by Robert Prichard, in a position where he has the whip-hand, even though his family is more or less pitted against him. His wife, Anne, and a worldly-wise daughter of twenty-five, Olive, are the most dissatisfied members of the family. These roles are taken by Betty Pearsall and Ruth Poff. Stephen's eldest son, Dick, a college graduate and a member of the great army of the unemployed, brings with him to the country his new wife, Eve. Dick and Eve are played by Sterling Ross and Mary Louise Van Sickle. The two youngest members of the family, Ethel Naudts as Phyllis, and Daniel Murphy as Billy, agree with Eve who is sympathetic with her father-in-law and who believes that the family should cooperate.

The romance in the play is contributed by a country doctor, Lynn Gray and daughter Olive. Abe Rostker has the part of Dr. Gray who enters the situation during a siege of contagious illness. Thoroughly disgusted with the boredom and laziness which his family exhibits, Stephen tells them that he will not support any member of the family who returns to the city. After five months of difficulty and funny experiences, the family reaches a new understanding. At the conclusion Dick and Eve are operating a successful farming enterprise. Billy and Phyllis have the proper start in life, Olive and Dr. Gray are in love and plan to marry, and Anne and Stephen are happy and contented. A.

The audience enjoyed the play because of the varied types of characters. The very spoiled and citified family was a great contrast to the simple country folk. Lucinda Andrews was played by Helen Sengenberger. Earlene Loftus played Suzanne Toler, a patient and optimistic spinster. As a comedian, Robert Fossland portrays Sid Sperry. Terry Sperry, truly his father's son, was played by Norman Twentyman. Mary Marshal, representing a rural maid at her best, was played by Muriel Zahn. Dorothy Nichols had the part of a hard working farm woman, Mrs. Marshal. Angie, the agreeable, was played by Ethel Scheve.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

The vocal department of the tribe of W.T.H.S. Indians is lead through every skirmish with the scales by its able chief, Mr. Schumann. The young song-loving warriors flock to the topmost corner of the ancient cage, known as Junior 400. Many a youth who aspires to be the world's greatest baritone some day has balked at trudging wearily up the many flights of stairs which lead to the domicile of these young male songsters during the seventh period. A few have walked down instead and had a study hall substituted for Boys' Glee Club.

The Boys' Glee Club is one of the oldest organizations in the school. It was founded ten long years ago by those braves of the tribe who were interested in vocal work. The purpose of the club is to teach the boys the use of their singing voices. In many cases this is very hard to do for a vast number of these youths would rather gossip than sing. One cannot truthfully say how many basses or tenors are in this group, for during the first semester the handsome braves may warble high tenor and several weeks later be singing bass with the greatest of ease.

During the first semester Clarence Dorband officiated as president of the club. His aides were Harold Jacobs, vice-president; Michael Carr, secretary; Robert Dickson, treasurer. The second semester saw Lawrence Storms, as "heap big chief" of the tribe with his assistants Edward Short, vice-president; Robert Whitaker, secretary; and Willard Vick, treasurer.

The tom-tom beater who made the ivories fly for this group for the first semester was Alice Schott, while Evelyn Harju accompanied the group during the second semester. Both of these musicians put up with much at the daily rehearsals of the boys' singing department. From this band much of the operetta material is gleaned. Being selected the leading man in an operetta is really a goal to be sought and a feather in the hat of the brave who is chosen. Those not selected for individual parts in this yearly production sing with the general chorus in the end acts.

GIRLS' CHORUS

Every day, just before sixth period, one may see a troupe of bewitching lassies tripping gaily up a pathway of eighty steps. Laughing merrily and panting for breath this bevy of beauties reach their destination, Junior 400. This charming group, many of whom are only papooses, belong to the Girls' Chorus. They are interested in vocal work and have had no previous experience in part singing. First feathers awarded in this tribe are those of promotion to that exalted band, namely, the Girls' Glee Club.

The chorus meets every day during the semester; the first week of which is devoted to the testing of voices to find whether Jane is still a soprano or if she has dropped down to a lower score. This may explain why there are so many colds and cases of lost voices during the first few weeks of school. These attractive maidens are so modest that many a time, even without a cold or any other like alibi, it is difficult for them to have their voices tested without blushing the color of a true redskin. Besides, these papooses are not as yet very well acquainted with their chief, Mr. Schumann. Maybe that fact will serve as an explanation as to why you heard the comment, "Was your face red, when you had your voice tested today!"

As the weeks fly by, the damsels gradually become accustomed to hearing their own voices. They soon learn that "high c's" have nothing to do with sailors; also, that by contracting the vocal chords a little, they can reach "e" instead of the usual "e flat" that seems to be so disconcerting to their director.

November twenty-eighth marks their debut before the public. In conjunction with the other vocal organizations—Boys' Glee Club, Girls' Glee Club, and A Cappella Choir, the Girls' Chorus provided music for a general assembly for Thanksgiving. Again at the Christmas assembly program these fair choristers exhibited their talent. During the second semester, they performed on the Easter assembly program. The operetta "Iolanthe" was a grand climax to the year's work of the vocalists.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Great would be the surprise of any demure Indian maidens who wandered into room 400 during eighth period. The strains of fifty girl voices raised in song float through the corridors from this far wigwam. It would also be a surprise to these young Indians to discover that in our tribe it is the maidens not the braves who wear the war paint. Mr. Schumann, chief and instructor of this musical clan, may be seen gesturing widely at them with a baton in lieu of a tomahawk and vainly begging that they stop chewing their gum.

These maidens have all had at least one semester in the girls' chorus and are sufficiently advanced to sing more difficult numbers. The voice try-outs which conceal so much consternation in their first year as vocalists are no longer a matter of worry. They blithely trill and warble hymns, spring songs and operettas with thorough enjoyment.

It is from this group that the feminine leads and chorus are chosen for the yearly operetta. This year they presented a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Iolanthe." Not all their time is spent in singing, of course. That is hardly to be expected. They must read the "W" World, comb their curls, and carefully apply the before-mentioned war paint. To a casual observer it does not seem possible that they ever have time to practice, but they do. How well and successfully they do practice is exhibited each year at the concerts and assemblies which they present.

Betty Jane Larr and Margaret Price play the piano for this group of aspiring vocalists.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR AND VOICE CLASS

As their name indicates, the members of the A Cappella choir, sing without music. During the first half of the fourth period every day, hallelujahs and amens peal forth from Room 400 under the baton of Chief Schumann. There forty boys and girls are seated according to their voice placement, each singing lustily. At the Commencement and Baccalaureate exercises this group sings hymns, ballads and cantatas. They are robed in purple and gold when they sing before the school at Easter or Christmas and present a very effective appearance.

The students and the faculty of our school are proud of their A Cappella choir. However, Mr. Schumann, chief of the clan, often despairs of their ever learning anything. He has a great many problems, for the tenors constantly want to sing baritone, they frequently forget to sing the solo parts, and the sopranos find it very difficult to hit the high notes. This vocal class has, however, advanced far in the last few years and their singing is very enjoyable. The officers of the tribe are: President, Harold Jacobs; vice-president, Vivian Carlson; secretary, Donald Anderson; treasurer, Lorraine Goronson. Gertrude Griffin is the pianist for the group.

The Voice Class is an organization formed by vocalists who aspire to become proficient soloists. Mr. Schumann is, of course, also chief of this clan. The youths and maidens who belong to the voice class are able to sing a solo with confidence and ability at any time. The songs which they sing at the semi-annual concerts are both classical and popular. Parents, teachers, and fellow students are invited to the powwows of the group and thoroughly enjoy the music of the talented students.

ENTIRE GROUP

OPERETTA

Every year the braves and maidens from the vocal department give a grand powwow in the form of an operetta. This annual event is held in the wigwam known as the Senior Auditorium. "Iolanthe," a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, was given this year on two nights, Thursday, January 16, and Saturday, January 18, 1936. The stellar roles were played by a different cast each night. The operetta, directed by Mr. G. E. Schumann, was given before a large crowd both nights.

ENSEMBLES

From the various classes in the vocal department, under the leadership of Chief George Schumann, have been chosen five small groups of ensembles. These ensembles furnish an opportunity for those prominent warblers who wish to distinguish themselves in singing.

BOYS' OCTETTE

Eight warriors of the W.T.H.S. tribe organized the Boys' Octette. These lads practice once a week after school. The ensemble was composed of: Harold Simmonds and Douglas Morton, first tenor; Donald Anderson and Mark Turner, second tenor; Bernard Scheffield and Edward Shultis, baritone; Elmer Luke and Arthur Esperian, bass.

MIXED QUARTETTE

Two young braves and two fair maidens banded together to form the mixed quartette. Earnestly they practiced classical, operatic, and sometimes popular music. The talented foursome was composed of: Blanche Johanson, soprano; Gertrude Johnson, alto; Harold Simmonds, tenor; Elmer Luke, bass.

GIRLS' TRIO

The girls' trio, like the popular trio, is entirely a girls' project. Unlike the popular trio, however, these fair femmes devote their spare time to rehearsing classical compositions for just such an ensemble. In this way they become acquainted with and thoroughly learn the works of the old masters. The ensemble is made up of: Betty Ehnert, alto; Pearl Nilsen, second soprano; and Barbara Jean Parmalee, first soprano.

MIXED QUARTETTE

H. Simmonds, B. Johansen, G. Johnson, E. Luke.

GIRLS' TRIO

B. Ehnert, P. Nilsen, B. Parmalee.

POPULAR TRIO

E. Ferry, L. Goronson, V. Carlson.

MADRIGAL SINGERS

L. Petchulat, G. Canfield, D. Canfield, M. Turner, L. Miller.

POPULAR TRIO

The popular trio is composed of girls who prepare harmonious arrangements of popular songs. This type of ensemble appeals particularly to the students at large who are themselves extremely fond of "moanin' low." The fair damsels composing this trio were for the first semester: Elizabeth Ferry, first soprano; Lorraine Goronson, second soprano; and Vivian Carlson, alto; Shirley Beeman took Elizabeth Ferry's place for the second semester.

MADRIGAL SINGERS

The madrigal singers are composed of five talented and ambitious students of our tribe. This type of ensemble was originated by Haydn in the eighteenth century. As distinguished from the other ensembles, this type sings strictly classical music written fugue style. The braves and maidens who compose the ensemble are: Lydia Petchulat, alto; George Canfield, bass; Dora Canfield, second soprano; Mark Turner, tenor; LaVonne Miller, first soprano. When the annual went to press, no one as yet had been selected to take the place of Dora Canfield, who graduated in January.

Each of the ensembles participated on school assembly programs as well as performing before such community organizations as the Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, Lions Club, A. B. C. Club, Woman's Club, Methodist Church Societies, D. A. R., and North Chicago Rotary Club.

THE BAND

In the attic of the Senior wigwam, one of the most active groups of our tribe holds sway. Yes, you have guessed it. They are the seventy-five hearty young braves who compose the W.T.H.S. Band. Under the leadership of their jolly chief, Otto Graham, these braves have accomplished many wonderful feats. They hold their councils every eighth period, and during contests have special council fires. The three sons of Chief Otto Graham play a big part in the band. Richard has been chosen by the braves as a mascot, Otto Jr., an accomplished French horn player, and Eugene is the versatile and talented performer on the Oboe and English horn.

For many moons it has been the custom to hold an annual band concert to raise money for the trip to the state contest at Urbana. This year Chief Graham sold more than two thousand tickets, with the united cooperation of local organizations and the enthusiastic band boys. On Friday, March 13, the band presented its fifteenth annual concert before a record crowd that filled the gym. The audience enthusiastically applauded every number. In addition to the selections Tannhauser, Uncle Tom's Cabin, a novelty number, the Tarentella played by the entire band, and instrumental solos, Mr. John Whyte sang Scotch songs, and James Salmon, a former member of the band, played several marimba solos. Mr. G. E. Holmes, composer of Tarantella, and Mr. Harry Alfred, composer of Uncle Tom's Cabin, were in the audience, and made many favorable comments upon the band's performance.

On March 27 and 28 the hearty braves journeyed down to Highland Park to participate in the District Contest. The band attained a Class A rating. Eleven soloists and four ensembles placed in the first division while seven soloists placed in the second division.

One year ago, when our Waukegan braves entered the state contest, the braves captured the second division feathers, while two of the braves, James Van Slyke and Victor Hoefner gained their feathers in the State first division, and placed in the first division in the National. As this book goes to press the State Contest at Urbana, April 22, 23, 24 is very near. The braves and their Chief Otto are hoping for even higher honors than they won last year.

SENIOR ORCHESTRA

To the wigwam ruled over by one stalwart chief, Otto Graham, come all those braves of W. T. H. S. who are interested in beating tom-toms, plucking strings, and in blowing reed or brass instruments. To learn about orchestral playing these youngsters first play in the Junior Orchestra for one semester, and if they are able to pass certain tests, they are awarded their first feathers and are promoted to the Senior Orchestra.

Here gather all the prize winning musicians including James Van Slyke, Lyman Starr, Eugene Graham, Ralph Harju, and Tom Butler, who were selected to play in the all-state orchestra at Urbana with braves from other tribes in our state. Many fair and talented maidens also belong to this clan of musicians. Among these femmes who helped make the music go round and round are Rachel Sands, Mildred Koski, Dorothy Enerson, Ruth Gurskis, and many others.

This ambitious tribe played at all powwows given by the dramatics department and in addition sponsored a powwow of its own in the form of the annual Orchestra Concert.

As for social activities, these braves cannot be beaten. This year they held a sleigh ride, chaperonless at that, with a party following at the wigwam of one of the orchestra members. Reports say that many duets were formed and a few trios.

A picnic was held in the late spring, to which every one eagerly looked forward. Many not in the orchestra were invited. Alumni of these picnics have pleasant memories of many hot-dogs, much ice cream and pop as well as hilarious game of baseball.

Orchestra participation is not all fun however. These Indians put in a great deal of hard work during fourth period. Although to a casual listener the clamor coming from the orchestra room about eleven o'clock may seem nothing more than a lot of noise, out of it are shaped a number of very lovely selections which are played at the annual concert. Many accomplished players have found their start in the W. T. H. S. orchestra and all of them look back on their experience with pleasure.

JUNIOR BAND

The troupe of papooses known as the Junior Band serves the Senior Band in the same way as the Junior Orchestra does the Senior Orchestra. Every year players that can pass certain sight reading tests are admitted to the senior organization. In the annual band concert March 13 these youngsters played three numbers preceding the Senior Band's concert. This year the Junior Band and Orchestra had two student conductors who substituted for their chief, Mr. Graham, when he was absent. Conducting these groups of juveniles is a difficult task, but it is very valuable experience for young would-be conductors. The student conductors are Eugene Graham and Lyman Starr.

The material studied by the Junior Band, although not as difficult as that played by the Concert Band, presents passages of medium difficulty which tax the players to put forth their best effort. Interesting studies of harmony and scales are also made by this band to acquaint them with the essential and fundamental information before joining the Senior Band.

The young Junior Indians have a very efficient tom-tom beater; his thunderous pounding does shake the whole Senior building during every third period. The blare of trumpets all blowing "a" as they tune up is enough to make one realize that maybe war-whoops are not yet out of style. Now down the scale only to end with a dismal squeak, which tells big chief Otto Graham that the youngster is not quite ready for the Senior Band. Like the Junior Orchestra in one respect, when the bell rings the music ends with an abrupt "bang" and the band boys dash down the stairs.

THE JUNIOR ORCHESTRA

In every high school or tribe there are to be found orchestras and bands. To give a player not able to attain a position in the more proficient organizations an opportunity to continue his music in a simpler form, or until he is able to play the compositions used in the more advanced orchestra or band, there are maintained junior groups. So it is in our W. T. H. S. tribe. We have a Junior Band and a Junior Orchestra, and it is largely from these that the Concert or Senior Band and Senior Orchestra draw their players. Compositions, studied in both Junior Band and Orchestra, are written by famous composers such as Beethoven, Wagner, and Bach, but are transformed into a simpler composition to enable the young braves and maidens to play the music and still learn just as much about the composition.

It is from the Junior Orchestra which meets daily that those wierd sounds come each sixth period. Lyman Starr, their able director, is very often overcome by a deluge of sour notes. From room 205, directly below the orchestra room, one has a feeling that at any moment the drummer is going to beat a hole right through the floor. Altho the young musicians do not hold any powwows of their own, they were well represented at the orchestra sleigh ride and picnic.

In the Junior orchestra, at least one-half the time is spent in "tuning up." The pianist goes almost mad from the repeated cries of, "Give me 'a'." Altho violin players are supposed to tune the "a" string from the piano and the rest by ear, they often sneak around to the piano and sound out "a, d, g, and e" for themselves. The wind instruments tune up "en masse." One player's notes being a wee bit sour makes the other braves just a trifle angry. After much delay the actual playing begins. During the middle of the first, or maybe the second, piece, the loud ringing of the bell is heard. Immediately all is in chaos and everyone hurries to be the first one out the door.

J. Van Slyke, W. Stenborg, A. Ellinwood, S. Ross, R. Curlee, E. Makela, R. Bowers, E. Graham, L. Starr.

BRASS SEXTETTE

Early in the spring of 1935 a group of six braves banded together to form a brass sextette. Like the other ensembles, the sextette played numerous times before various local clubs and churches. In the 1935 district contest held at Cicero it placed in the first division; in the state contest at Urbana, it won second division rating.

The group is comprised of: Walter Stenborg, first trumpet; Robert Bradley, second trumpet; Otto Graham Jr., French horn; William Gensch, baritone; Robert Gibbons, tuba; and Lyman Starr, trombone. The ensemble studied compositions by Holmes, Talmadge, Beethoven, Bornhause, Wagner, Stephen Foster, and Busch. They plan to play Bornhause's arrangement of "Joy to the World" in the coming contest. The musicians comprising this ensemble are working hard to perfect their technique before the 1936 contest.

BAND OFFICERS

In that large tribe known as the Senior band, the following chieftains were elected in September, 1935: James Van Slyke, president; Walter Stenborg, vice-president; Alfred Ellinwood, secretary; Sterling Ross, treasurer; Edward Malela and Lyman Starr, librarians; Richard Curlee, drum-major; Roscoe Bowers, property-man; and Eugene Graham and Lyman Starr, student conductors. Because of their efficiency, these warriors remained in office for both semesters.

One can always find Sterling Ross busy collecting money for the band treasury which is in such dire need of wampum. If one sees a youth running around like mad just before a concert, he may be quite sure that it is Edward Malela trying to find the drum part to a novelty selection to be played. Quite frequently before a football game, Dick Curlee can be seen rehearsing his baton-twirling feats.

CLARINET QUARTETTE

The clarinet quartette was organized in the summer of 1935 by four gifted youths of our tribe. Since that time this ensemble has performed for various community clubs, churches, and other social functions. The quartette consists of: James Van Slyke, who trills first clarinet; Merton Douthitt, who plays second clarinet; Edward Malela, who performs on the alto clarinet; and Harvey Shea, who shows his talent on the bass clarinet. In the 1934 national solo and ensemble contest, held at Des Moines, Iowa, the quartette, having places in first division for the state and district contests, which made them eligible for the national, gained a high division in the final results.

CORNET TRIO

A group of three talented warriors organized the Cornet Trio. This trio has proved to be of outstanding value to the many organizations for which it has performed. The members of the ensemble are those well-known braves: Victor Hoefner, Walter Stenborg, and Johannes Rasmussen. Last year the trio won second division, or "Superior Rating," in the National Contest at Des Moines, Iowa. This ensemble has been organized since the fall of 1934 and entered the 1936 District Contest, held at Highland Park, March 27th and 28th. They performed at the annual band concert, March 13, 1936, in the new gym. In the 1936 district ensemble contest at Highland Park on March 27 and 28, the three lads secured a first division rating. Their contest number was "The Three Pucks."

STRING QUARTETTE

Four ambitious lads: Ralph Harju, first violinist; Mike Diagula, second violinist; Robert Gibbons, cellist; and Eugene Graham, violist, organized the string quartette. The ensemble was organized chiefly for practice and consequently did not perform before community clubs as did the other ensembles. They disbanded later in the year.

WOODWIND QUINTETTE

The woodwind quintette is not very familiar to the students of W.T.H.S. It has not performed for any community club as the various other ensembles have. The reason for this is that it was organized for the express purpose of studying the music written by famous masters. Many transcriptions are made for the ensemble, so that each member may have an opportunity to learn different solo passages, which he would not become acquainted with if he were playing the numbers in the band or orchestra. The members of the quintette are: Ruth Gurshis, flute; Kenneth Fosberg, bassoon; Thomas Butler, French horn; Edward Vollmer, clarinet; and Eugene Graham, oboe.

RIFLE CLUB

Under the gym and swimming pool is a corner of the wigwam of the Waukegan Township High School never entered by those who claim the title of the fairer sex. In fact, very few even know of its existence. This is the rifle range, an intriguing spot for a clan of he-men braves. Here the theme is "Girls and rifles do not mix!!!" At least that's what Sergeant Holly infers. Here our braves go to fire, not with the traditional bow and arrow, but with their rifles.

This year the sharpshooters held matches with many different tribes including: St. John's Military Academy, Evanston High School, Rockford High School Morgan Park Military Academy, and Joliet High School. The team also fired many postal matches with schools from the four points of the United States from New York to Mexico and from Chicago to New Orleans.

During the first semester this brave tribe of stalwart youths was captained by Milton Smith upon whose graduation this important office shifted to Buddy Lockwood, better known as "Levity." Many boys earned their feathers, or, if you prefer, medals, for expert marksmanship. The first medal awarded is the pro-marksmanship, then the marksman's, and finally the sharpshooter's. To the sharpshooter's medal are added nine bars as proficiency with the rifle is gained.

The braves who were selected to fire on the Hearst Trophy Team were: first team, LeRoy Barnett, Andy Black, Mark Gantar, Buddy Lockwood and Milton Smith; second team, Ralph Ambrose, Walter Holt, Herbert Macknick, Ralph Richardson and Charles Vassar; third team, Walter Cyzmer, Steven Dunski, Jack Garrett, George Gavin and Willis Seybold. Firing on the Hearst Trophy Team is an honor toward which the boys work during the whole first semester. Many are the shouts of glee and groans of disappointment when the team selections are announced.

MILITARY OFFICERS

In a far corner of the wigwam is a spot to which the young warriors flock eagerly, for here is the military office. One can always find Major Hunt and Sergeant Holly here busily engaged in correcting test papers, checking targets, and attending to the many duties of their office. Also, one will probably bump into a few of the exalted braves, talking about things in general, more often than not, about the R. O. T. C. after school and during their free periods. The company commanders, Jack Garrett, Walter Cyzmer, Vincent Guerin, Joe Rayniak, Bill Guensch, Elmer Hansen, Louis Talcott, Robert Fossland, and Buddy Lockwood may be seen listing the names of those in their companies who deserve merits and demerits, although many cadets are acquainted with only the latter.

The merit system is a new one, having been introduced by Major Hunt only last fall. By this system a cadet is able to gain recognition for guard duty at basketball games, swimming meets, and dances. But he can also flunk if he receives as many as fifty demerits in one semester. For personal inspection a total of five merits may be gained, which explains why one hears the frantic calls for finger nail files, combs, and shoe polish on every Thursday, which is inspection day.

The officers have banded together to form a small tribe of their own which they call the "Cross Sabers Club." The purpose of this band is to promote better citizenship. Milton Smith was elected President of this clan for the first semester; he was succeeded by Mark Gantar during the second. The other offices were held by LeRoy Lindgren, Harry Herranen, and Vincent Guerin the entire year. These ambitious boys are planning a powwow in the form of a Military Hop to be given sometime in the late spring. This event is under the chairmanship of Mark Gantar.

ATHLETICS

*"In all youthful sports and pastimes,
In all manly arts and labors,
Swift of foot was Hiawatha,"*

V. Sahagian, S. Brady, Mr. C. A. Jickling, J. Bowers.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Athletic Association, under the sponsorship of Mr. Jickling and his committees, controls the sale of all athletic tickets and also has charge of the advertising end of all the various school athletic programs.

Although most of the work is handled by the officers, the club is really composed of more students than any other organization in school. This is due to the fact that every student who buys a season ticket to a school sport automatically becomes a member.

The officers for the year 1935-'36 were: President, Varam Sahagian; vice-president, Justin Bowers; secretary, Shirley Brady; treasurer, Mr. C. A. Jickling.

In October the Athletic Association sponsored an unusual event, the presentation of Cealo Mohawk, the human seal, who gave many interesting demonstrations in the school pool. This attraction was held after school and drew a large crowd. The proceeds of this event were used to help cover the cost of staging the swimming events.

THE CHEERLEADERS

Six leather-lunged youths comprise the cheerleaders club. Mr. Cole helps teach the boys new yells and antics, which stimulate in our tribe the loyalty and spirit we should possess. This band selected as their chief, Mark Gantor, with Alger Buzewicz and Carl Nauta assisting. Major letters are awarded these braves who lead the cheers at all basketball and football games. The final outing of the year is in the spring—a trip to a big league baseball game in Chicago.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

On Labor Day a squad of thirty youths reported to Coach Mark Wilson, eager to begin training that they might emerge victorious in their battles against rival tribes of Indians. Only five lettermen, Sledge, Bowers, Sahagian, Pillifant, and Shea, war-scarred and experienced braves of this group, returned to the battle field. The team practiced every day at Weiss Field and under their chief, Mark Wilson, assembled before school for chalk talks to plan their attacks on the enemy. Soon a team began to take form and Wilson sent a group of eager red-skins, not armed with hatchets and bows, but with a determination to win, to battle with their first rivals, Racine.

Waukegan 8, Racine 0

In the opening game of the '35 season, the Waukegan varsity squad vanquished the Racine team at Weiss Field. Waukegan received two points when Racine's fullback fumbled a bad pass from center in the end zone. The "W" squad scored their touchdown when Pillifant broke through center and dashed over the goal line. Because of the warm weather, Wilson substituted freely.

Waukegan 13, Evanston 0

The "W" aggregation played a fast game to down their traditional rival, Evanston. This game, Waukegan's first suburban league game since 1927, drew the largest crowd ever to witness a high school game at Weiss Field. A long parade preceding the game led the faithful fans to the athletic field where many loyal supporters had already assembled. The battle began early and was hard fought all the way. Throughout the game the team clicked smoothly and deserves much credit. The game proved to be the finest of the season.

Waukegan 7, Proviso 6

Waukegan triumphed over Proviso in the second league game, a hard fought encounter. Proviso made her six points in the second quarter; in the third quarter, Waukegan went into the lead on a touchdown and an extra point. A rally by Proviso in the last few minutes of play was stopped by the gun. Sahagian's passes and Pillifant's gains were the highlights of the game.

Waukegan 6, New Trier 7

Many "W" fans journeyed to Winnetka to see Waukegan battle in vain against New Trier. The "W" teamsters, for the first time this season, lost a Suburban League game. The New Trier team earned their 7 points in the first few minutes of the second quarter, scoring from the six-yard line. In the closing period, Waukegan marched down the field to a touchdown. Through failure to gain the extra point, Waukegan lost the game.

New Trier outweighed Waukegan with a line average of 190 pounds. The game was important, since each team had chalked up two victories and no losses. This game decided who was supreme in the league.

Waukegan 13, Bloom 13

The purple and gold squad traveled to Chicago Heights to play Bloom in a non-league conflict, emerging with a 13-13 tie. Bloom's heavy team and strong passing baffled the "W" gridders during the first half. In four minutes Waukegan made 13 points to tie the score. The first touchdown was the result of Kennedy's recovery of a blocked kick in the end zone. Pillifant made the extra point. The "W" squad, aided by a penalty on Bloom, scored the second touchdown on a pass from Walczak to Zens, who made a fine catch among three Bloom tacklers.

Waukegan 34, Morton 6

In their last home game, Waukegan completely overwhelmed Morton, beating them by a score of 34 to 6. The school spirit, stirred by an assembly the day before the game and the homecoming parade directly before it, resulted in a large attendance at the game. Waukegan planked down three decisive scores in the first half and two in the second; the Mortonians, on the other hand, slated their lone touchdown early in the second half. During the last half, Coach Wilson used the second team. Waukegan's outstanding men on the field were Kennedy, Ogrin, and Damos.

Waukegan 6, Oak Park 20

On their home field, the Oak Parkers outplayed the "W" squad to edge Waukegan out of second place in the league. Late in the third quarter Zens made Waukegan's only touchdown on a pass from Sahagian. The opposition baffled Waukegan in the first half with their spectacular running and passing. A disappointed crowd of Waukegan faculty and students returned to their homes after the overwhelming defeat.

Waukegan 41, Deerfield 0

In the last game of the season the "W" combine trounced Deerfield on their athletic field. Deerfield was unable to stop the Waukegan "powerhouse" until the locals had piled up 41 points. Waukegan completely outclassed Deerfield and ended the season with a bang. Those who played their last game for Waukegan were: Sahagian, Neary, Scheske, Sledge, Shea, Pillifant, Walczak, Davern, Bowers, and Bradley.

The annual football banquet, sponsored by the local American Business Club climaxed a successful season in which the "W" boys had won third place in the Suburban League. Major letters were awarded to: Shea, Zens, Walczak, Damos, Pillifant, Davern, Kennedy, Bowers, Sledge, Sahagian, Scheske, Silovich, Bradley, Ogrin, Neary, and Jizmejian (Mgr.).

Robert Pillifant was the only brave from Waukegan honored by being placed on the Suburban League team. Varam Sahagian and Vincent Shea, however, made the second team and Leonard Zens, Dan Kennedy, Justin Bowers, and Ted Damos were given honorable mention. Four gridders from Waukegan were placed on the All-Lake County football team. The four so honored were: Vincent Shea, placed at right guard and chosen captain of the honorary eleven; Leonard Zens, who was placed at left end; Barney Walczak, named quarterback of the team; and Robert Pillifant, who was appointed to the fullback position. Those given honorable mention from Waukegan were: Bowers, Davern, Sledge, Scheske, and Sahagian. Among the first nine leading scorers in the Suburban League, four were from Waukegan: Pillifant, Damos, Ogrin, and Sahagian.

SUBURBAN LEAGUE FOOTBALL

In the Suburban League, New Trier copped undisputed first place honors by winning all six of its league games. Oak Park managed to put Waukegan in third place, by losing only one game and tying one, while Waukegan lost two. Fourth place went to Proviso, while Evanston, Deerfield, and Morton finished in the order named. This was the first season in a number of years that Waukegan had played as a member of the Suburban League. Considering this, Waukegan made a fine showing, for the schools of the Suburban League turn out some of the finest teams in the state.

1935 FROSH-SOPH FOOTBALL

The stalwart braves composing the Frosh-Soph football team were coached through their season by their chief, Ralph Brown, assisted by Coach Leo Singer. The team won four games, lost three, and tied one in one of the outstanding seasons in recent years. The team promises to provide good material for next year's varsity squad. Next year's Frosh-Soph team also anticipates a successful season since the following present members will remain: Ferry, Hall, Machak, Niccum, Dickson, Haroian, Levandusky, McDermott, Miladin, and Staben. The following received minor letters: Abrahamson, Ambrose, Bader, Colbert, Ferry, Hall, Hollands, Kolens, Lindquist, Machak, Marsoobian, Niccum, Papp, Payne, Reinbach, Summers, Ward, Wilson, and Rossiter (Mgr.).

Freshman football was carried on largely by Coach Al Groche, under the heading of Intramural Football. Later the teams were coached by Leo Singer and Steve Drew. About one hundred boys turned out, and, of these, several teams were formed, which played in competition with each other. Those players who were the most out-standing on the field turned out for the Frosh-Soph team during the last few weeks of the season.

1935-'36 VARSITY BASKETBALL

About the middle of October, a few of Waukegan's basketball players turned out for practice in the big gym. Here the boys practiced every day after school in preparation for their opening conflicts. Coach Ralph Brown lined up three practice games for the team before beginning its schedule with the Suburban League teams. Waukegan easily won two of their practice games against Barrington and Woodstock, but lost the other one against Libertyville. After seeing how they lined up in comparison with other schools, the local players practiced for their games in the Suburban League.

The squad was unable to win any of their next ten league games although they lost the game with the strong Proviso five, league champions, by only one point, 25 to 26. However, the team did not allow their poor record to discourage them. The braves practiced faithfully and showed improvement in every game they played. In the Proviso game, Coach Brown found the most effective way of using the players. The junior and senior squads were used to replace each other and with this system, the team ended the season successfully. This inspired group then defeated the strong Morton team in the last scheduled game of the season.

At the end of the season major "W's" were awarded to Frank Merlo, Leonard Zens, Ed Nuttilla, William Scheske, Barney Walczak, Lloyd McGuire, Ed Madruh, Fred Mudgett, Ted Damos, Harvey Rodbro, Joe Ogrin, Vincent Shea (Capt.), Melvin Glass, and Melvin Wilson (Mgr.). Gordon Bilharz was the only one to receive a minor letter.

SUBURBAN LEAGUE BASKETBALL

In the race for the Suburban League title, the strong Proviso five, one of the finest tribes in the state, overcame all opposition to top the list with only one game in the "lost" column. The Morton red-skins copped second place with eight wins. Our Waukegan braves defeated Morton in their last league game and by this defeat, Morton lost her chance of becoming co-champions with Proviso. Evanston followed close behind Morton with seven wins, and, in turn, was followed by Oak Park, Deerfield, New Trier and Waukegan, respectively. Although Waukegan did finish in last place, the team played first class basketball in the latter half of the season.

TOURNAMENT PLAY

In the regional tournament, held at Waukegan on March 4, 5, and 6, 1936, the Waukegan cagers showed beyond a doubt that they were a much improved team.

Waukegan vs. Libertyville

Waukegan's first game was with the Libertyville Wildcats, who had defeated the "W" squad at Waukegan earlier in the season. Libertyville came to Waukegan with a record of fifteen straight victories. They were doped to go to the state finals at Champaign. This game was fast and furious from start to finish, and at no time during the game did either team command a lead of more than five points. The local team came back after trailing the Wildcats by the score of 12 to 7 at the half and by constant rushing pulled ahead in the closing minutes to win by the score of 23 to 20.

Waukegan vs. Evanston

The Evanston team, after defeating Maine township was Waukegan's next opponent. The "W" squad, taking heart after the Libertyville game, completely outplayed Evanston, holding them to four field goals and finally winning by the score of 24 to 14.

Waukegan vs. Deerfield

Waukegan met Deerfield in the regional championship game on March 7. Deerfield had already defeated Waukegan twice in Suburban League contests and was predicted to win. However, the inspired Waukegan squad led Deerfield at the half by the score of 17 to 10 and went ahead to win the game by the score of 37 to 31. By this victory Waukegan became regional champions.

Waukegan vs. Kelvyn Park

The Waukegan team traveled to Libertyville to play against Kelvyn Park in the sectional tournament. Their opponent was an outstanding contender for the state title from Chicago, and had gone to the city championship finals. The "W" squad was unable to locate the hoop, and after a valiant fight, lost to Kelvyn Park by the score of 28 to 23.

1935-36 FROSH-SOPH BASKETBALL

The Suburban League decided to have the Frosh-Soph team play the preliminaries at the league games this season instead of the lightweights. This decision ushered lightweight basketball out of the high school and, at the same time, put more emphasis on Frosh-Soph basketball. These capable young redskins were led through their schedule by Coach Mark Wilson. The season was packed with many thrilling games, several being decided by one-point margins. Much of the power of the Frosh-Soph team was lost when Mudgett and Ward became juniors. The boys who carried the team through the season were: Mudgett, Ward, Lindquist, Ello, Graham, Kolar, Kolens, Scheribel, Ferry, Hogan, Abrahamson, Holland, Lindbergh, Gargala, Dickson, McDermott, and Ambrose.

1935 TRACK

In the spring of 1935 a group of eager red-skins reported to Coaches Fields and Brown for training in preparation for early-season battles with rival tribes. When the weather was satisfactory, the group practised at Weiss Field. Soon the squad began to take form. Waukegan lost to its first opponent, Libertyville, by a score of 48-76 at Weiss Field. Shortly afterwards the Lake County Track Meet, held at Waukegan, was won by the tribe from Deerfield by a substantial margin. The scores were as follows: Deerfield 59, Libertyville 45, Waukegan $30\frac{1}{2}$, Grant 7, and Barrington $12\frac{1}{2}$. On May 21, Deerfield invaded Waukegan in a dual meet and carried off the honors by defeating the local braves by a score of $63\frac{1}{2}$ to $49\frac{1}{2}$.

The Frosh-Soph track team fared a little better than Waukegan's first team, by winning one encounter, losing another and tying a third. In the first meet held at Libertyville, Waukegan and Libertyville broke even, each making $47\frac{1}{2}$ points. Two weeks later Waukegan lost to Deerfield by a score of 69 to 26. The team tested its merits with those of Arlington on May 17, and succeeded in winning $49\frac{1}{2}$ to $45\frac{1}{2}$.

On May 25, all the tribes in the Suburban League assembled for the annual meet. The valiant efforts of the red-skins from Oak Park were used to give Oak Park the honor of winning not only the regular track meet but also the Frosh-Soph meet. The scores for this meet were: Oak Park $50\frac{1}{2}$, Evanston $38\frac{2}{3}$, New Trier 36, Deerfield 8, Proviso $61\frac{1}{3}$, Waukegan 2, and Morton $11\frac{1}{2}$. In the Frosh-Soph meet the scores ran: Oak Park $35\frac{1}{2}$, Evanston 34, Deerfield 22, Proviso $13\frac{1}{2}$, New Trier 8, and Waukegan 8.

These braves from Waukegan who received major "W's" were: Cordell King, Jerome Berens, Alec Hankins, John Grom, Ray Rukas, Paul Sledge, and Dave Turner. Minor letters were awarded to Thomas Barrett, Gordon Bilharz, Robert Dickson, Oscar Harris, and Dan Dorse (Mgr.).

Row 1—M. Turner, C. Hatton, D. Turner, D. Murphy (Mgr.), K. Hurd, J. Grom. Row 2—D. Fields (Coach), D. Brown, A. Gordon, T. Butler, D. Anderson, J. Hershman.

1935-36 CROSS-COUNTRY

During the early part of September over thirty-five young braves turned out for Cross-Country running under the direction of Coach Dave Fields. The boys worked hard to complete a fairly successful season. The local harriers defeated Evanston in their first meet by a score of 45-16, and lost to Lane Tech by only 4 points. Waukegan also lost to Proviso by a close score. In the Suburban League meet, Waukegan red-skins scalped the only other teams who participated, Proviso and Evanston, by a decisive margin. The "W" harriers traveled to Janesville, Wisconsin in May to participate in the Midwest Cross-Country Invitational Meet, in which Waukegan placed fifth. John Grom copped individual honors in this meet and set a new record for the course at Janesville.

Following are those on the "Suburban League Meet" team, who also scored in all of the meets: Dave Turner, Mark Turner, Charles Hatton, John Grom, and Kenneth Hurd. Dan Murphy was the team's manager.

1935 GOLF

After a lapse of several years, golf was resumed as a sport in W.T.H.S., and the team, under the direction of Coach Morley, had a successful season. The Waukegan team defeated Evanston, 11 to 4; Proviso, 8½ to 6½; Oak Park, 11 to 4; and Morton, 14 to 1. The team was defeated by New Trier, 8½ to 6½, and by Deerfield 14½ to 1½. Waukegan practiced and played their meets at the Glen Flora course, and the Frosh-Soph team practiced at Bonnie Brook two days a week. Deerfield was the League champion and Evanston won the Suburban League meet. Perpich of Waukegan was fourth low in the Suburban League meet. Those who received minor letters were: Perpich, Stolarik, Smyrtnik, Hyos, and Leskovec.

Row 1—Mr. J. J. Morley (Coach), E. Graham, B. Drew, L. Hartman, R. Stewart, H. Holt, L. Green, H. Brubaker, E. Olson (Mgr.). Row 2—L. Pennington, R. Bradley, J. Mazlo, C. Nilson, H. Lockbaum, A. Bujan, D. Bachfield, C. Van Pelt, E. Scheve, D. Wooldridge, G. Burkey, R. Bettis, R. Gibbons, H. Landers. Row 3—J. Arnold, A. Wicklund, S. Nuuttila, T. Leise, T. Olson, Lerche, R. Sutkus, C. Wenslauski, A. Beaubien, J. Cusimano, M. Olander.

1935-36 SWIMMING

Among its illustrious students Waukegan has a number of red-skins, who excell in aquatic feats. Every year these youths eagerly look forward to December when they can demonstrate their ability in the swimming meets. In the middle of November a group of about sixty boys turned out for practice in the pool every night after school. Here our braves trained faithfully under the capable instruction of Coach Morley. In order to test the strength of the local squad, Mr. Morley arranged for a meet with the strong Kenosha swimmers. In this meet Waukegan was defeated but it gave Coach Morley a good chance to discover the weak spots and to prepare for the meets with Suburban League swimming teams.

The Waukegan Seniors started off on the wrong foot and lost their next three meets to Deerfield, Oak Park, and Morton. The team steadily improved, however, and downed the Deerfield swimmers in the next meet, although the squad had lost the previous meet to Deerfield. The Waukegan swimmers then went ahead to win two of their remaining three meets. The seniors had eight dual meets, while the juniors had seven.

Suburban League Swimming

In the senior and junior divisions of the Suburban League swimming, Oak Park topped the column although neither schedule was completed, for Proviso was under quarantine and could not swim all their meets. In the senior division Oak Park had completed its schedule and had lost no meets; therefore, they won the championship. New Trier copped second place, Morton took third, and Waukegan placed fourth with two victories and three defeats.

1935 BASEBALL

On the first Saturday after Christmas vacation a group of seventy boys began indoor baseball practice in the old gym under the supervision of Al Grosche. Here they practiced faithfully until the latter part of March, at which time they began their outdoor practice at Weiss Field. After a few days of practicing, the squad was cut to fifty. The boys trained tirelessly in anticipation of their coming conflicts with rival tribes. Since the entire infield with the exception of the first baseman had returned, the coach anticipated a successful season. However, the team had some bad luck when Hangebrauch, the star right hand pitcher, was lost after the first game, because of a knee injury.

Throughout the entire season Waukegan had its greatest trouble with errors. The players committed an average of 5.8 of them per game. The "W" squad swinging their bats, which they used for war clubs, defeated both Morton and Proviso, the league champions. The team defeated the stronger tribes, but then turned around to throw away games to the weaker ones, and finish third in the Suburban League. The Waukegan team broke even in games, winning seven and losing seven.

The '35 squad consisted of Hewitt and Merlo, catchers; Bizjak, Damos, and Butkus, the regular pitchers after Hangebrauch was injured; Brunet, first base; Walczak, second base; McGuire, short-stop; Ward, first base; with Mesec, E. Zelesnik, S. Zelesnik, and Davern in the field. Hewitt, Walczak, and Brunet carried off the batting honors. These regular players and Pederson and Hangebrauch (Mgr.) received major letters. Those who received minor letters were: Abrahamson, DeRue, Dolan, Etolen, Kerzich, Merlo, Nauta, Petros, Sims, Van Parys, Vollmer, E. Zelesnik, Adams, Marsh, Mudgett, Lindbergh, Reinbach, and Ward.

Freshmen numerals were awarded to: Bartel, Decker, Ello, Golob, Lindquist, Oberman, Whitlock, Zakovsek, J. Zelesnik, and Brown (Mgr.). Leo Singer directed the Freshmen squad in its search for laurels.

SUBURBAN LEAGUE BASEBALL

Morton and Proviso set the pace for the other teams in the Suburban League with nine wins and three losses each. They ran a close race for first place and finished the season as co-champions. Waukegan and Deerfield also ended the season in a tie, although the "W" squad defeated Deerfield in both our encounters with them. Oak Park, New Trier, and Evanston placed in fifth, sixth, and seventh positions, respectively.

GIRLS' SPORTS

With the opening of school in the fall, a troupe of sport-loving maidens enrolled for the first girls' sport of the season, soccer. Promptly at 3:15 these nimble damsels dash to their locker room where they doff their classroom togs for the "gym suit" and "tennies." A few minutes later finds Miss Durkin, their young director at the entrance of the gym, warming up "Lulu," the listless limousine, for the jolt to Weiss field. Scanning the energetic girls seated in the bus, one is surprised to note that not only freshmen, but seniors and representatives from every other class are present, all having the time of their lives.

When Weiss field is reached, Miss Durkin brings Lulu to a halt with a violent forward lurch and screeching of brakes. The girls tumble out none the worse for wear. A lively soccer game ensues. These semi-weekly outings at Weiss field very much increase the physical endurance of the girls. At the completion of eight weeks of soccer practice, a tournament is held among the different class teams. Each girl who has actively taken part in all the games is awarded forty points. These points are valuable to the prospective as well as present members of the Girls' Athletic Association, for as soon as a girl has acquired one hundred points she is admitted to the G. A. A. Those who are already members of the club earn various emblems and letters depending on the number of points they have acquired.

Next on the varied schedule of girls' sports is that comparatively new game known as speedball. Speedball, as soccer and all other girls' sports, is open to girls from all classes provided that they are physically fit. Twice a week after school hours for eight continuous weeks, the girls practice at Weiss Field. To climax the hard but pleasant hours of practice a tournament is held and again forty points toward G. A. A. membership or emblems and letters are awarded to each girl who has taken part in the practices and in the tournament. The girls who earned the points in this way were: R. Birchfield, E. Huffman, F. Copeland, E. Camp, M. Monahan, E. Plautz, H. Guthrie, V. Mattson, M. Owens, E. Boyer, T. Edwards, F. Schaffner, E. Powell, L. Ranta, H. Boksiss, G. Baron.

Tumbling followed the speedball season this year for the first time. This new activity is just what its name implies; it consists of tumbling and other exercises in the gym to keep the girls fit during the winter weeks previous to the volleyball and basketball schedule. The manager of the tumbling class was Evelyn Huffman. The girls who went out for this class were: L. Curtis, V. Henderson, E. Hensel, A. Jensen, M. Jersild, N. Rule, M. Sisty, E. Burnett, A. Margoian, C. Bousquet, R. Chandler, M. Conner, N. Contoyanis, G. Duff, E. Powell, L. Lembrunner, E. Camp, T. Edwards, M. Owens, C. Fritz, A. Angelos.

Volleyball succeeds tumbling. For eight weeks the girls practiced hard. Then came the tournament. The girls who participated in the sport were: A. Angelos, R. Birchfield, C. Bousquit, E. Camp, M. Connor, F. Copeland, D. Douglas, T. Edwards, V. Evans, C. Fritz, E. Huffman, K. Kennedy, D. Lundquist, M. Lozykiewicz, V. Mordhorst, M. Monahon, M. Owens, G. Broce, L. Ranto.

After volleyball comes the most popular sport of the year, basketball. Mary Lozykiewicz managed the teams which were composed of: M. Owens, L. Ranto, C. Fritz, E. Plautz, E. Boyer, V. Mattson, T. Edwards, E. Camp, M. Geske, E. Copeland, F. Schaffner, M. Monahon, E. Huffman, C. Bousquet, M. Connor, Byerl, V. Evans, Birchkis, K. Kennedy, E. Powell, H. Hiersberger, A. Dunski, M. Stoner, A. Mackin, E. Woertz, B. Pettclair, A. Perry, E. Bernit, D. Johnson, M. Saloff, C. Kurtz, L. Griffith, D. Carlson, A. Margoian, D. Winters.

Winter finally succumbs and the balmy spring air again beckons the gay girls to Weiss field where they practice track.

In the spring comes baseball. Marjorie Owens is manager of the team. Many are the shrieks of delight when they are at last out of hibernation and may practice at Weiss field almost every day. When school closes in June the girls are all aware of the benefits they have obtained from the various sports, and it is somewhat reluctantly that they begin their vacations. Most of them look forward to next season with delight and not a little impatience.

PLAY DAY

For a week before November 16, 1935 four score fair maidens hustled into the girls' locker room to scribble their names upon a form on the bulletin board. Many were the knowing glances, but always there was present an enthusiastic anticipation of that date. "What was afoot?" you ask. Plans for the second annual "Play Day" sponsored by the G. A. A.

When the great day rolled around eighty-five eager maidens reported to the gym. At nine-thirty sharp the attendance was checked to see if all who had registered had arrived. Then the group was divided into six clans. Each clan was named for a ship—Hespaniola, Dixie, Normandie, Aquitania, Pinta, and Santa Maria. Each clan had a large boat of a different color, and all members of the various divisions had small replicas of the larger boats. Inside each of these ships, which had been made after school hours by some members of the G. A. A., was a schedule of the activities planned for the day. The first sport listed on the program was baseball, then volley ball, ping-pong, relay races, and finally swimming in the school pool. After such a strenuous day you may be sure that each damsel welcomed one o'clock, the hour when lunch was served.

The program was planned by the officers of the G. A. A. assisted by the sponsors, Miss Bonar and Miss Durkin. With the exception of swimming, all the sports were held in the gym. Any freshman girl as well as any G. A. A. member was welcome to attend. The day was so thoroughly enjoyed by everyone that another was planned for May 23, 1936. The "Play Day" however, the G. A. A. tells us, is open to all schools in Lake county. Such an arrangement is new to W. T. H. S. The other schools represented here on that day will be the guests of the local G. A. A., and if one may judge by the success of the past two play days, the next one is certain to be a splendid affair.

WATER PAGEANT

That band of ambitious maidens known as the Girls' Athletic Association, under their chiefs, Miss Alice Bonar and Miss Catherine Durkin, presented their annual water pageant, "Diana and the Hunter," May 3, 1935.

The scene of this mythical pageant was the woods of the hunter's dream. The hunter, a mortal, was played by Velona Mordhorst. As in many sketches, Diana, played by Mary Jane Nellans; Pan, by Wanda Nellans, and the hunter, form a love triangle. In the first scene the wood sprites, Marjorie Owens, Evelyn Boyer, Muriel Burge, Katherine Thompson, Dorothy Caldwell, Florence Schaffner, Reba Smith, Mary Evelyn Smith, and Sarah Yellen, faithful followers of Diana, are gayly dancing and laughing.

But, Hark! A sound frightened them away and the hunter stalked into view. Wearied from his chase, he sat down to rest and fell asleep to dream of his beloved Diana. In his dream he saw Pan call for the wood spirits to dance for him. Pan, infatuated with Diana, pursued her as he played on his pipes. She asked for his pipes and her request was refused. Thus rebuffed, Diana threw herself into the Crystal Lake from whence she was then rescued by the Pond People. Diana became the leader of these swimmers, who were ably portrayed by Adele Andurfuren, Ruth Birchfield, Elizabeth Coya, Lucille Davison, Eleanor Edwards, Jennie Gabris, Mary Gorishek, Lois Guenette, Ruth Gurskis, Cora Hagenboom, Ruth Jacobs, Mildred Kapheim, Eleanor Kjesbo, Marcella Peddicord, Maxine Riley, Norma Saloma, Mary Sahagian, Virginia Turney, Josephine Worak, and Gertrude Waters. After a short while the jealous Pan sent his followers, the frogs, Ruth Butler, Margaret Metzgar, Luella Kellner, Rosemary Streit, and Janet Monroe, to frighten the Pond People back to their haunts.

Finally the hunter awoke to find that, although Diana really loved him, she could not marry a mortal. She bade him a fond farewell and swam back to her first love, the immortal Pan.

The pageant was a tremendous success, and, in grand style, climaxed the '35 activities of the Girls' Athletic Association.

LIFE-SAVING

When fall had definitely set in and the old swimming hole no longer tempted adventurous maidens, they spent many of their afternoons in the school pool. On Mondays and Wednesdays the dashing lassies gaily tripped into the girls' locker room to doff their school clothes for their tank suits.

The Red Cross Life-Saving is organized: to encourage and assist in teaching swimming; to advocate and enforce sane regulations and practices for swimming and boating; to recommend and install proper safeguards; to mark danger spots with warning signs; and to serve as volunteer life guards at unguarded beaches where it is not the obvious duty of the owner or operator to provide the necessary protection. Those high school students who have thoroughly mastered their life-saving work in high school and have passed their senior life-saving test automatically become members of the organization of Red Cross Life-Savers.

In order to pass the beginning swimmers' test, students must have spent at least eight hours of preparation and practice in the pool. Only students who are twelve years old or above may take the course. In the 1935-'36 school year there were forty-seven girls who passed the beginners' test.

The following girls have completed their junior life-saving test and received their awards: Dorothy Douglas, June Bumann, Ruth Birchfield, Dorothy Seybold and Ruth Batten. These girls received as their awards a junior life-saving membership card and either an emblem for their bathing suits or an enameled pin.

In order to pass the Junior Life-Saving test, a swimmer must: disrobe in deep water and swim one hundred yards; release double grip on one wrist both left and right; release front hold and back hold left and right; demonstrate: resuscitation, a one and one-half minute demonstration, prone pressure method; surface dive in six to eight feet of water, recovering various objects three times, and a ten-pound weight once; correct approach, thirty feet; head carry, thirty feet; cross-chest carry, thirty feet; hair carry, thirty feet; and tired swimmer's carry, thirty feet—each carry preceded by a thirty foot swim.

After eight weeks of life saving work the girls take their junior life-saving tests. If they pass the test they are awarded one hundred points toward their G. A. A. letter. When they pass their Senior Life-Saving test, they receive forty points.

The age requirement is from seventeen years up. The girls who have completed their Senior Life-Saving tests for the year are: Kathryn Hall, Mary Gorishek, Ruth Gurskis, Lois Guenette, Gwendolyn Grams, Virginia Turney, and Barbara Morrow. They have received as their awards their Senior Life-Saving membership card and either an emblem for their bathing suit, an enameled pin or both.

Some of the requirements in order that a swimmer may receive her membership emblem or pin in the Senior life-saving include the following: an essay on prone pressure method of resuscitation (200 to 500 words); treading water for thirty seconds; floating motionless for one minute; in deep water entirely disrobing from shoes, shirt, dress, and coat, then swimming one hundred yards; a one-minute carry with the subject fully dressed; fireman's or saddle-back carry from shallow water; front and back strangle hold, four times, two different positions; two persons locked on front strangle and repeat rescuing alternate subjects; demonstrating prone pressure method of resuscitation, one and one-half minutes; double grip on one wrist four times, using alternate wrists; front, back, and under-water approaches, each with the proper turn and carry, head, chest and hair carry sixty feet, preceded by a sixty-foot swim, proper approach and carry; tired swimmer's carry, sixty feet preceded by a sixty-foot swim; an oral quiz of five questions on life-saving.

This band also sponsored a powwow in the form of a dance after the Evanston basketball game, February 7, 1936. This dance proved a success. The chairman was Mamie Diagula.

LAMENTATION

It's nice to be in high school,
Though I rate a lowly B;
I thought that just to be here
Would be quite enough for me.

But now I've found out differently,
Alas! Oh woe is me!
For though the semester's over,
I'm still a lowly B.

Don't get the wrong impression,
Listen to what I say.
It's nice to be a B, dear kids,
But I'd rather be an A.

The first six weeks were over,
When I went home, said Dad,
"You didn't do your work at school,"
And now I wish I had.

The whole semester now is over,
I tell you, it's the bunk.
You have to work at high school,
Or else, like me, you'll flunk.

For now I've found its wholesome truth,
Alas! Oh woe is me!
For though the semester's over,
I'm still a lowly B.

AN EPISODE FROM LIFE

Her name was Ellen Carpenter,
Her disposition sweet;
Her car broke down one cloudy day,
That's how we chanced to meet.

I asked her what the trouble was,
She said, "It just won't go."
Said I, "Perhaps you're out of gas."
She only answered, "No."

I asked, "May I assist you, please?"
She answered, "If you will."
But what I knew about a car
Was little more than nil.

I labored long, and labored hard,
But all to no avail.
Till dusk began to fall around,
The wind began to wail.

The rain came down in blinding sheets,
But still it wouldn't go.
Again I stepped the starter down,
It moved, but oh, so slow.

The car began to go at last,
Her smile of thanks was sweet.
I hope and pray that some fine day
Sweet Ellen again I'll meet.

DAVID ROSE, 4B

A BOY FROM BOSTON TOWNE

There was a boy from Boston Towne
And happy was his case;
For Dad gave him a motor car.
Hi-ho, a merry pace.

This car of his an Austin was,
A jolly car, right smart.
No trip, no speed, no time, no tide,
But he was ready to start.

His girl, a miss from Boston Towne,
A pretty little elf,
With dimples in her cheeks, and eyes
For no one but himself.

A visit to her house he made,
To take her to the faire.
And in the car they both did jump
This happy, reckless paire.

The merry-go-round and ferris-wheel,
A chummy little dance—
Then peanuts, popcorn, lemonade,
And all the games of chance.

And then back home in the merry car,
While moon light shed its rays.
And so did end for him and her
The jolliest of days.

GORDON BEAUBIEN, 4B

CORRECT BEHAVIOR AT A PICNIC

"A day in the open is just what we need,"
Exclaimed the young girl to her love;
"We'll go in the Buick with Mom and the kids,
And wish for a blue sky above."
So Sunday came around with the sun shining bright,
With cookies and cake in the car;
"We're off," cried her dad as they sped on their way,
"Though I'm sure we won't go very far."
"Not too fast," says Mom as they whirled past a cop,
But onward and onward they sped;
'Til out in the woods where there was no garage,
They found that the gas had all fled.
The young man, in keeping with manner gallant,
Suggested he trot back alone.
By the time he returned, all the tires were flat;
The language he used is unknown.
On again, stop again, "Why not eat here?"
"Gee, I'm hungry," says Bill.
"If you wait just a minute, I know a swell place,"
Says Pa, "It's on top of a hill."
They rode and they rode 'til 'twas three hours past
The time which is usually called lunch.
Then down came the rain through the windows and roof
Before they their lunches could crunch.
And so, ye young lovers, please take my advice;
There's a crowd as soon as you're three,
You may borrow the Buick, if the pater consents,
But don't take the whole family.

M. E. H.

DISILLUSIONMENT

I have been disillusioned. As a small girl I used to gaze on the flag with patriotic devotion and think of what it meant, our country, the first democracy, the land of the brave, the home of the free, liberty, patriotism, love. Now, when the band blares the national anthem and the flag proudly flaunts its symbolic hues, when every heart should be bursting with emotion, I see—here, a girl applying cosmetics; there, a boy whispering some ridiculous joke when he should be exulting in his strength, the strength which may some day determine the future of his country. I have discovered that even our soldier boys, many of them, whom we have praised so highly, and set upon a pedestal as examples of loyalty to one's country, some of them, not all, went for the "kick" in it.

But, when the flag is waving there are some students who look and think soberly. Young people, realizing for perhaps a minute, for one brief second before time wings on its way, all that flag, home, and country mean. These bright young faces, sobered for an instant at the brief revealing glimpse into the past and the future, are the true citizens-to-be of our country. By real citizens, I mean those who love their country and who are willing to sacrifice their all for the worthy cause of freedom on the altar of democracy. These then, make me realize that perhaps my visions in bygone days were not illusions.

MARY BARRON.

SPORTS

You take it in the swimming pool,
To take some outside work in school,
Is half a student's fun.
Or shooting with a gun.
Or maybe you would rather trot,
Across the country side;
Or maybe on a football lot
Is more a hero's stride.
And then, of course, there's basketball,
And ping-pong playing too,
And many other kinds of ball
And dancing classes too.
